

Seven Dead, 75 Hurt In Southern Storms

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — The Deep South, hit twice in two weeks by terrifying tornadoes and wind storms, counted its newest losses today—seven dead, 65 injured and more than $1 million damage.

The destruction came from wind and rain storms carrying four tornadoes that tore at Louisiana, Alabama and northwest Florida yesterday.

Four Killed In Family

Louisiana, Alabama, Arkansas, Missouri, Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky were raked by tornadoes that killed 233 persons March 21, injured 1,100 or more and did multi-million dollar damage.

One tornado yesterday killed four members of a farm family at Arnaudville, La., 10 miles northwest of Lafayette, deep in the French speaking Cajun country. Twenty-four persons were injured there and 20 families left homeless. The Red Cross estimated damage at $75,000.

Three others died and 32 were injured in the New Orleans area as recorded winds reached 90 miles an hour—hurricane strength. The New Orleans weather bureau said winds may have reached 150 to 200 miles per hour after measuring instruments failed. A radio tower constructed to withstand 135 miles an hour winds was bent to the ground like a wheat straw. Damage estimates ran between $175,000 and $300,000 for the general area.

Beach Homes Flattened

Flying bricks injured two persons at Mobile, Ala., when a tornado struck the municipal airport area. Damage there was estimated at $100,000.

Some beach homes were flattened by a third tornado at Panama City, Fla. There was no official estimate of damage there but observers said it would not exceed $50,000.

A fourth tornado ripped through a north Louisiana area near Shreveport, damaging several houses to the extent of an estimated $10,000.

The worst financial loss was at Jeanerette, La., about 30 miles east of Lafayette, where homes were damaged and a sugar refinery flattened. Five persons were injured. Damage there was expected to reach $500,000. Nearby Charenton was struck a $50,000 blow.

Planes Collide At Mobile, Ala.; 15 Lose Lives

MOBILE, Ala.—(AP)—Salvage crews dug through the smoldering wreckage of two entwined Air Force transports today in a grisly search for the bodies of 15 crewmen and passengers.

They were killed when a C-124 Globemaster II, biggest operational cargo plane in the U. S. A. Air Force, and a C-47 collided in flight over Mobile last night.

The transports spun earthward in flames and landed squarely atop parked railroad box cars, setting 12 of them afire.

The crash took place inside the city limits a mile north of Mobile's business district and a few blocks west of the Alabama state docks industrial area and a battery of gasoline storage tanks.

Coast Guard and Air Force crash boats and a Navy helicopter searched nearby swamps bordering the Mobile and Tensaw rivers for a possible lone survivor. An unconfirmed report said one airman in the C-47 had parachuted when the planes rammed.

Both planes were based at Brookley Air Force base here.

Six of the dead were crewmen aboard the C-124, which is capable of hauling 200 fully-equipped troops.

The C-47 was reported inbound to Brookley from Maxwell Air Force base at Montgomery with nine persons aboard, including the crew. Planes of this type normally carry a five-man crew.

Michigan GOP Split Even On Taft And Ike

By JACK BELL

DETROIT—(AP)—Republican leaders were reported agreed today on a slate of ten at-large delegates to the GOP national convention about evenly split among supporters of Sen. Robert A. Taft and General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The at-large slate, assembled under the leadership of national committeeman Arthur Summerfield, was ready to go before the state convention which also will ratify choices of 36 district delegates.

In the first action of its kind, the second congressional district caucus voted 58 to 42 to pledge its two delegates to Eisenhower until they are released. The second district includes largely urban area in the southeast section of the state.

Fourth district delegates, hailing from the southwestern corner of the state endorsed Taft at their district caucus and named two Taft delegates.

Two delegates chosen from the third congressional district, centering around Kalamazoo, told reporters they are neutral in the Taft-Eisenhower fight but intend to vote at the convention "for the man who can win."

The district delegates were being chosen in caucuses and backers of Eisenhower and Taft both claimed they would come out on top in the 46 vote total.

Thomas E. Coleman of Madison, Wis., midwestern manager for Taft, said his group was satisfied that the at-large slate consisted of six persons publicly neutral in the Presidential nominating race, two for Taft and two for Eisenhower. As for the district delegates, Coleman told this reporter: "We are doing all right."

Arthur Vandenberg Jr., an official of a national Eisenhower movement, agreed with Coleman's

Michigan Bell's Offer Of Wage Boost Spurned

DETROIT—(AP)—A tieup of telephone service for 43 states edged closer today with notice from the Communications Workers chief that "agreement doesn't seem, possible" before Monday's strike deadline.

Joseph Beirne, president of the CIO Communications Workers of America, predicted disruption of telephone service in 43 states and the District of Columbia if Western Electric Co. employees strike as scheduled at 6 a. m. Monday.

Telegraphers Out
Beirne, whose telephone operators threaten Monday walkouts in Ohio, Michigan and northern California, says no CWA members anywhere will cross Western Electric picket line before telephone exchanges.

Meanwhile Michigan's 1,200 Western Union operators carried on their wage strike although the company claimed a back to work movement in several other states. Officials of the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union said the workers here are "out 100 per cent." However, supervisory employees were continuing service in Detroit, subject to delay.

Angrily rejecting an offer of an increase of $3 to $7 a week from Michigan Bell for its 18,000 employees—members of CWA, Beirne left for Washington last night to organize machinery for "a strike on a nationwide basis."

Would Set Pattern
The combined strike calls for Bell and Western Electric workers would send some $7,000 off the job. Besides Michigan Bell's 18,000, there were 23,000 Bell workers in Ohio and northern California, and Western Electric's 16,000.

The Michigan negotiations had been regarded as setting the pattern for any wage agreements in Ohio and Northern California and eventually for Bell Telephone systems throughout the country.

The Bell Systems and Western Electric Co. are owned by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. Western Electric manufactures and Bell equipment and makes its central switchboard installations.

SEOUL — (AP) — U. S. Sabre jets destroyed or damaged 40 Communist warplanes in the last seven days, Far East Air Forces reported today.

FEAF said it was the heaviest weekly toll of Red air power since last October.

The summary for the week listed 15 Russian-made Mig-3 shot down, four probably destroyed, and 21 damaged.

United Nations losses were two Sabre jets lost in air combat, one plane destroyed by Red ground fire and three planes lost for unknown causes.

There was no decisive action along the 155-mile ground front Friday or early Saturday.

Gambler Costello Convicted, Faces Rap For Contempt

By JOHN O'BRIEN WALLACE

NEW YORK — (AP)—Swarthy, croaky-voiced Frank Costello, who twice stalked out of a Senate crime committee hearing rather than answer questions, was convicted last night of contempt of the United States Senate.

The 61-year-old gambler and underworld figure, who four times previously beat government efforts to put him behind bars, faces a possible maximum sentence of 10 years in prison—plus $10,000 in fines. He was sentenced in $5,000 bail pending sentencing Tuesday.

Shaken By Verdict

Government prosecutor Myles J. Lane, who finally tripped the Mahan-born racketeer, hailed the jury's guilty verdict as a "turning point"—and said it was proof that no man "no matter how cunning or powerful he might seem to be, could be bigger than the government itself."

The usually calm and poised Costello, visibly shaken by the verdict, had "nothing to say."

Those were his words to newsmen as he rose unsteadily to his feet after the jury had reported its decision. The jury deliberated five and a half hours.

Costello, a shadowy figure of the underworld, described by his counsel as a "man of integrity" held up to scorn and ridicule in the widely televised Kefauver crime committee hearings, was convicted on a 10-count contempt charge.

Queries Unanswered

The charge emanated from his two "walk-outs" during the New York hearings of the committee in March, 1951, and his stubborn refusal to answer specific questions put to him by committee counsel Rudolph Halley.

Some of the questions which went unanswered dealt with his admittedly sizeable wealth, his indebtedness and his relations with former New York Mayor William O'Dwyer, now U. S. Ambassador to Mexico.

The crime hearings catapulted two of the committee members into prominence. The committee's chairman, Sen. Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, has become a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

And Halley, the committee counsel, became President of New York City's council—the city's second highest elective office.

Wage Boss Makes Last Bid To Stall Off Steel Strike

NEW YORK—(AP)—The federal wage chief, in a desperate bid to stave off a strike by 700,000 steel workers, strove today to bring industry and union officials together at a bargaining table.

But Nathan Feinsinger, chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board, would not say whether he had power to try to forge an agreement by altering his board's recommendation for a 17½ cents-an-hour wage boost.

Furnaces Cooled

The CIO United Steel Workers have agreed to the WSB proposals, but industry refuses to accept them without government approval of a $12-a-ton increase in the present $110-a-ton price of steel.

Negotiations on the government wage pattern collapsed Thursday, and the union served notice that it would strike at midnight Tuesday against the vital defense industry.

Some firms already were reported preparing for the strike by

Korea Armistice Rumors Persist

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP)—Negotiators made no headway today toward breaking a two-way deadlock holding up agreement on a Korean truce. But there were persistent rumors that an armistice may be signed soon.

The subcommittee on truce supervision wrangled for 20 minutes over Communist nomination of Soviet Russia as a neutral inspector and a U. N. demand for a ban on airfield construction.

Communist newsmen, who frequently reflected official thinking, hinted Friday that the Reds would be willing to withdraw their nomination of Russia if the U. N. Command abandoned its demand for an airfield ban.

But after a brief session of the joint subcommittee on truce supervision Saturday Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison said the Communists "have suggested no solution . . . They have advanced no new ideas."

Auto Crash Breaks Eggs; Woman Throws Rest At Windshield

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—Marion Jones sat flabbergasted in his automobile yesterday while an angry woman motorist peppered his windshield with eggs. They had both stopped at an intersection.

"You caused me to bust some of them and I'm giving you the rest free," he quoted her as saying.

Without further explanation, she jumped into her car and drove off, Jones told police.

Eisenhower Winner In Iowa Convention

By DON WHITEHEAD

DES MOINES—(AP)—The tall, corn state counted Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower the winner today over Senator Robert A. Taft in the GOP convention votes. The score in delegates: Eisenhower 14, Taft 9, neutral 2.

Eisenhower forces pinned up their victory late yesterday in a GOP state convention which ended on a note of high excitement and unexpected results. Senator Taft said: "It's about what we've been expecting in the last three weeks. It's been a very close fight all the way through." He said the two neutral delegates "are pretty certain for me."

But the Des Moines Register said "there is some basis for believing that Eisenhower may be certain of 16 delegates at the present time."

Wes Roberts, executive director of the Eisenhower national headquarters in Washington interpreted the convention's action as a "smashing victory" for Eisenhower.

Republican presidential candidate Harold Stassen said "this is just another indication that Taft doesn't have the support he claims."

But Taft's national campaign manager, David Ingalls, declared: "I think when things get all settled down, the delegates will be pretty well divided between the two."

The delegates will not be instructed to vote for any candidate at the national convention—but most of them either made their choice clear prior to the convention or said they would follow the will of their district delegations.

Earlier in his three-hour flight he abandoned Mrs. Doris Prince in a mired car he had taken from her employer's home, where he also got a .22 calibre rifle but no ammunition for it. State Police Sgt. Richard Tubbs said Mrs. Prince had been raped.

Wright was collared by Wilbur Herbst, 32, who ran his car down near Hamburg, Mich., seven miles south of here.

First, police said, Wright took the car of O. B. Wiltse, who employed Mrs. Prince as a housekeeper and who lives near the work camp of the Conservation Department.

When it got stuck, he abandoned it and Mrs. Prince, struck out through a field with the unloaded rifle, at the point of which he forced Lyle Herbst, Wilbur's brother, to give him his car.

Peninsula Miners Won't Join Strike

DULUTH, Minn.—(AP)—Upper Michigan's iron miners, although members of the CIO United Steelworkers, will not join in the steel strike set for next Wednesday.

Philip Murray, steelworkers president, notified union officers here yesterday that the strike call would not apply to iron miners in northern Minnesota, Michigan or Wisconsin.

Henry A. Burkhammer, the union's district director, said he was advising local presidents and company officers to that effect.

House Cuts Billions Off Truman's Budget

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON — (AP)—A cut of almost one-third in the State Department budget boosted over the 1½-billion-dollar mark today the total the House has slashed so far from President Truman's 1953 budget.

A $1,016,923,731 bill appropriating money to finance the state, justice and commerce departments and the federal courts for the fiscal year starting next July 1 passed the House 200 to 55 last night after record slashes had been made in state department funds.

When it got stuck, he abandoned it and Mrs. Prince, struck out through a field with the unloaded rifle, at the point of which he forced Lyle Herbst, Wilbur's brother, to give him his car.

Earlier in his three-hour flight he abandoned Mrs. Doris Prince in a mired car he had taken from her employer's home, where he also got a .22 calibre rifle but no ammunition for it. State Police Sgt. Richard Tubbs said Mrs. Prince had been raped.

Batista Takes Oath As Cuban President

HAVANA, Cuba — (AP) — Fulgencio Batista, a former president who seized the rule of Cuba in a military coup March 10, was sworn in last night as president of Cuba. He succeeded Carlos Prío Socarrás, exiled to Mexico shortly after his government was overthrown.

Estrel Beach, which had been pumping since the last flood to reduce its three-to-four foot water cover, had drained away about all but 30 inches before last night. However the new storm brought the water level back up to where it was before, pushing through sandbags and dikes put up two weeks ago.

Rep. William P. Littlewood (R-Wyandotte), introducer of the resolution, asked that speed limits be imposed on the Detroit River, Lake St. Clair, the St. Clair River and the St. Mary's River and that they be strictly enforced.

Excessive speed of vessels, sometimes up to 20 miles an hour, the resolution said, "causes waves which batter at sea walls, cottages and other shoreline property."

Passage of the bill left only a 46-billion-dollar military budget measure between the House and an Easter recess starting next Thursday. The military bill is $4,240,000,000 less than President Truman requested, and many House members want it cut even deeper.

The State Department information program, designed to counteract Russian propaganda abroad, was chopped from the 170 million dollars requested by President Truman to $86,575,000. None of the money requested for construction of new broadcasting stations, including two on ships, was allowed, although the appropriations committee had recommended 20½ million for this purpose.

Regular operational funds for the information program, which includes press and other activities in addition to radio, were trimmed from $133,272,914 to $86,575,000 as Republicans lambasted the program as ineffective and poorly managed.

Of the $102,419,628 chopped from the State Department budget, 32 million was cut by the appropriations committee in its recommendations. The balance by the House itself during debates.

Pinecrest Plans New Home For Its Associate Director

POWERS - SPALDING — The Pinecrest Sanatorium board of trustees has appointed Gothard Arntzen of Escanaba to prepare plans and specifications for the erection of a new home for the associate medical director. It will be built on the sanatorium grounds.

This project is part of a remodeling and renovating program at the sanatorium made possible through a state grant of $150,000 from the $65 million bond issue approved in 1950 for state hospital expansion and development. Of this issue $5 million was earmarked for tuberculosis sanatoriums.

Under present arrangements at Pinecrest Dr. Standford Sweeney, associate medical director, and his family occupy one wing of the nurses' home and ten other employees of the hospital are housed in semi-basement quarters in the institution. The new home will make space available for housing these employees outside the hospital.

the beautiful music of the Hammond Organ in over 28,000 churches

At Easter services and all church services throughout the year, the Hammond Organ is bringing rich, beautiful music to many, many thousands of churches throughout the world. In fact, since its introduction, more churches have selected the Hammond Organ than any other comparable instrument. Thorough investigation has proved to many thousands of beautiful tones... only the Hammond Organ with its exclusive "reverberation control" gives the small church cathedral-like organ music... only the Hammond Organ keeps maintenance costs to an absolute minimum because it can never go out of tune.

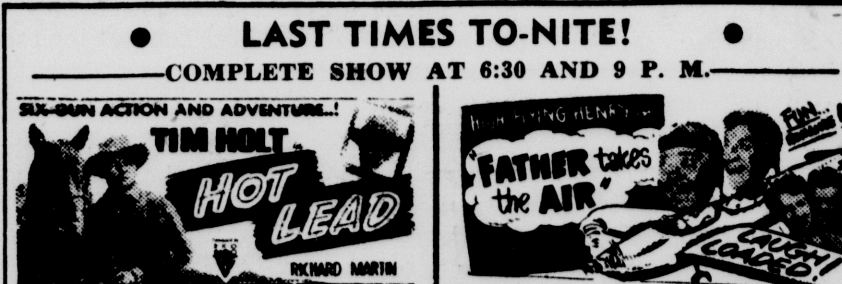

In fairness to your church, be sure to get a complete demonstration of the Hammond Organ before making any decision as to a new organ.

High Wind Takes Out Ice On Bay

The fourth ore boat of the season made its way into the Escanaba harbor this morning without the help of the ice breaker after northerly winds during the past 24 hours moved much of the ice out of Little Bay de Noc.

Strong, steady winds blowing across the bay last night made a large V-shaped field of open water stretching from Sand Point out.

With the cleared bay, the cutter Sundew can now limit operations to escorting arriving boats in from the edge of open water and to guiding departing boats up to that point.

Two Boats Today

The Sundew this morning led the tanker Polaris from its berth at the Theisen-Clemens oil company dock in Kipling to the open field and the steamer E. L. Ford into the C&NW docks.

The cutter will remain here for some time to finish the job of breaking ice around the ore docks and in the Kipling harbor.

Another ore carrier, the E. J. Block was expected by Docks Agent L. A. McMillan to arrive for loading this afternoon. After the Block, no boats are due until Monday when three are scheduled for loading.

Gogebic Range Loading

Theisen-Clemens officials do not anticipate another tanker there until April 20.

McMillan reported that ore is now being loaded at the Gogebic range with the first arrival of an ore train from there expected here about April 10. The Marquette range has not yet begun loading.

About 50 men are now working on the ore docks in loading operations.

W. L. Garbett, 74, Dies At Son's Home, Services Monday

William L. Garbett, 74, former resident of Marquette, died at 5 p. m. Friday at the home of his son, Bernard, Old State Road. He had been ill several months.

He was born in Canada Feb. 3, 1878, and came to the United States as a child. He spent the greater part of his life in Marquette and was a section foreman many years for the Lake Superior and Ishpeming Railway. His wife died in 1941 and he came to Escanaba to live with his son in 1948.

He was a member of the Lodge 202, F. & A. M., of Negaunee and of the Scottish Rite Consistory, Marquette. He worshipped at the Central Methodist Church here.

Surviving are two sons, Bernard of this city, and Ernest of Marquette; one daughter, Mrs. Arnold Mack of Benton Harbor; 11 grandchildren and 7 great grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Boyce funeral home where friends may call beginning Sunday noon. Services will be conducted by the Rev. Karl J. Hammar at 11 a. m. Monday at the funeral home chapel. Immediately after the services the funeral cars will leave for Marquette where Masonic rites will be conducted at 2 p. m. by the Negaunee Blue Lodge at Park Cemetery.

The hammer that Blake is holding is one in general use years ago. It was designed to knock mud and dirt from horses' hooves. The advent of the tractor, however, has limited the usefulness of this tool today. Mr. Blake has been employed by the City of Escanaba for 28 years. (Daily Press Photo)

World War 2 Bonus To Michigan Veterans Totals $219,857,177

LANSING — (AP)—State bonuses paid to Michigan veterans of World War II totaled $219,857,177 as of March 31, the adjutant general's office said today.

A total of 615,003 claims averaging $358 each have been approved. There were 6,289 claims rejected and 827 are still in processing.

Claims paid to survivors of Michigan men killed in the Korean fighting totaled $347,500. The state has approved 706 claims, rejected 16 and has 34 still on hand for processing.

Hayes, a resident of Escanaba for 15 years, is owner of the House of Ludington and is an outspoken opponent of waste in city government. His platform calls for an economy program and a more closely controlled city management by the Council. He has shown in preceding talks that there is a factual basis for criticism of basic city management policies here in Escanaba, and in these closing messages, he will prove this conclusively.

Ike's Resignation Likely Next Week

By PETER EDSON

NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's letter of resignation as Supreme Commander of NATO is being drafted in Paris this weekend (April 5-6). Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., of Massachusetts, Eisenhower's campaign manager, was called to Paris by the General to help write it.

The timetable on handling the letter has been tentatively worked out as follows:

The letter will be mailed from Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters on Monday, April 7. Protocol dictates that the letter be addressed to U. S. Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett in Washington. Lovett will relay it to President Truman.

If this schedule is followed, the resignation would be on the President's desk about April 10.

The date on which the resignation would be made effective was to be worked out between Eisenhower and Lodge in their conference this weekend.

It was believed in Washington before Lodge left that the resignation could not be made effective much before May 15. It will take Eisenhower at least a month to clean up his work at SHAPE. The General plans a visit to each of the 12 European NATO countries before returning to the U. S.

What Eisenhower does after his return to the United States is also to be discussed with Sen. Lodge. The General will have a certain amount of reporting to do to the Pentagon and the President and Congress in Washington before he takes off his uniform and becomes a civilian politician.

He already has two tentative dates in the U. S.:

One is to be present at the cornerstone laying for the Eisenhower Foundation building in Abilene, Kans., June 4. This is the edifice which will house all of Eisenhower's war records and trophies—swords, medals, historical correspondence and orders. Eisenhower has assured Kansas Governor Edward F. Arn that he will be present for the cornerstone ceremonies barring only an international emergency.

Gen. Eisenhower's second commitment is to be present at the American Assembly, sponsored by Columbia University, at Tuxedo, N. Y., May 18-22.

Aside from these two dates, the General's schedule in six to eight weeks before the Republican Convention opens in Chicago July 7 is largely in the hands of his manager.

Lodge, as top national campaign manager, will make a tour of middle western and south-western states during the week of April 15. He is expected to work out strategy with state campaign managers for Eisenhower.

Two types of campaign are being discussed at Eisenhower headquarters in Washington and New York. The first is for a highly selective series of campaign speeches in a few key cities. The other is for a cross-country campaign special train, hitting all the whistle stops, shaking hands and kissing babies.

The pre-convention campaign train idea would be to build up a great ground swell of public support for Eisenhower, allowing him to turn on all the charm of his magnetic personality.

The train would have to go through the South in an effort to weaken the Taft hold on southern Republican machine delegates. It would also have to give support to the new Eisenhower factions of southern Republicans who hope to take over the party there and give the South a real two-party system.

Advocates of a more selective pre-convention campaign for the General argue that by the time he can get going all the state primaries and conventions will be over. The delegates to Chicago will all be chosen and pledged for the first ballot, anyway.

Eisenhower's job before Chicago is therefore analyzed as being principally to woo delegates and win them over for the second and later ballots. It is believed this could be done better by personal meetings with a few people—the "right" people in the "wrong" or anti-Eisenhower states. The trans-continental campaign train idea, it is argued, should be saved until after Chicago.

Monday's Municipal Election Is Important One; Be Sure To Vote

MONDAY is election day in Escanaba. Four of the five members of the city council will be elected as well as a justice of the peace. In addition a municipal office of no importance, the office of constable, will be on the ballot.

A second ballot, a proposal to amend the city charter to authorize a five-member civil service commission instead of the present three-member commission, also will be presented to the voters in Monday's election here.

The council election has developed more than usual local interest and if weather conditions are good, a heavy turnout is anticipated. This is an encouraging sign because municipal elections are of great importance.

On the charter amendment proposal, the Escanaba Press recommends a "Yes" vote. The three-member civil service commission does not possess a base broad enough for the important functions that this commission performs. The civil service commission is not completely an advisory agency of the government. Not only do the recommendations of the commission carry considerable authority with the council, but the commission has a form of legislative authority in its own right. Civil service recommendations of some matters can become municipal law without any action of the city council, even though the council itself possesses veto power.

The enowbase of the civil service commission as it is now constituted is unwise. The proposal to enlarge the commission to five members is one deserving of public support. It is unfortunate that the office of constable is on the ballot at all. Escanaba has not had a constable for at least the last four years and we have been none the worse for the experience. The office is on the ballot simply because an archaic law requires it. There is no more need for the office of constable in Escanaba than there is need for a bird-counter or cloud-watcher. Perhaps less.

The council election, however, should command the keenest interest of the entire city electorate. The operation of our city government is of exceptional importance to everyone. Three council members will be elected to four year terms in Monday's voting and one will be elected for a two-year unexpired term. The only council seat not being contested at this election is that of Mayor Knutson whose term of office has two more years to run.

Be sure to vote Monday, rain, fog or shine.

Bess Was Never Fond Of White House

THE sequence of events that occurred upon the President's return to Washington is strongly suggestive. Mr. Truman and his wife re-enter the White House after an absence of more than three years. The very next day he tells the country he's quitting the presidency.

If this happened to anybody else, you'd guess that Bess didn't like the new White House decor (where it is new). There might be a little truth in this notion at that. Mrs. T. never had been too fond of the old place. And it's a foolhardy man who argues that she had no influence on the President's decision.

PRIVILEGED PARKERS (Ironwood Daily Globe)

Parking meters were originally installed in Ironwood—as in other places—for the purpose of effecting a turnover of parking space and thus preventing congestion in the busy shopping districts.

Now it appears that there is a privileged class of parkers, the drivers of publicly owned vehicles. One was observed in a metered space in downtown Ironwood the other day. The meter flag was on "violation" and there was no police ticket under the windshield wiper. Inside the windshield, however, was a printed placard bearing the name of a department of Michigan state government; presumably this was displayed for the benefit of the cop on the beat.

The state of Michigan raises and spends more than half a billion dollars of the people's money every year. It provides automobiles for such of its employees as are required to travel on state business (and maybe for some travel that is not essential). We have yet to hear a state employee who does not travel on an expense account. It would seem, then, that allowance could be made for the nickels and pennies needed to pay parking fees.

State employees driving publicly owned automobiles are not the only apparently privileged parkers. Employees of other agencies of government also seem to be exempt from parking rules.

If the reason for having parking meters—prevention of congestion—is not to be destroyed, traffic officers should be instructed that there should be no privileged parkers.

It is not that the city of Ironwood needs those additional pennies and nickels, but it does need the parking spaces.

How the Friends of Jesus Responded

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
A modern hymn-writer has written: "I've found a Friend, O such a Friend; He loved me ere I knew Him; He drew me with the cords of love. And thus He bound me to Him."

That was precisely what happened among the first disciples, as they responded to the friendship of Jesus, and heard His call. Fishermen left their nets as He invited them to become fishers of men.

Levi, renamed Matthew, a publican (that is, a Roman tax gatherer), despised for his work by many in the community, left his government job when Jesus said, "Follow me." His name is honored in the first book of our New Testament.

He prepared a feast for Jesus in his house, and a great company of publicans and others were there. People reputed to be religious were outraged by such a scene, and they complained to the disciples, "Why do ye eat and drink with publicans and sinners?"

How many of us "good" religious people would react differently today, if the unrecognized Christ came into a modern community, and attended a party with many persons of bad reputation? It is a common maximum that "a man is known by the company he keeps," but that isn't always a good criterion.

What an answer Jesus gave to His "respectable" critics! "They that are whole need not a physician; but they that are sick." He never implied that the publicans were better than the Pharisees. As a matter of fact, among the strict sect of the Pharisees were many fine and earnest people. What Jesus did imply was that the publicans needed Him most.

What a different world this might be, if all who profess to believe in Jesus were filled with the same zeal for helping those most in need—the sinful, the discouraged, the poor and needy, the careworn and heavily laden!

If we had been living when Levi gave his party, would we have been with Jesus among the guests? Or would we have been among those who looked in, and found fault?

What sort of response do we make to the friendship of Jesus? Do we try to be friendly, as our Master was, to those who need understanding?

There were two sorts among the friends of Jesus. To some He granted the privilege of following Him and being in His company; to others He gave the harder task of going home and telling of Him in their own communities.

Those forced to leave Him did have the greater burden. Think, for example, of the poor demoniac whom Jesus healed. That man wanted above all things to be with Jesus, but the Master told him to go back to his unfriendly neighbors and tell them what had happened to him.

Sometimes it is in plain unexciting tasks that we can best serve Jesus and show ourselves His friends.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Mrs. John Roosevelt, wife of the youngest son of the late President, tells how she called at Hyde Park some years ago when FDR was entertaining Princess Juliana of The Netherlands. Outside the house she noticed a young lady of pleasant proportions wheeling a baby carriage.

One baby was in the carriage, while a small child clung to the young lady's hand. "Are those Princess Juliana's children?" Mrs. John Roosevelt asked.

"Yes," replied the young lady. "Are't they lovely! I'm going in to see their mother."

"I am their mother," replied the young lady, with modest pride.

Princess Juliana not only had brought her children with her on that trip, but was their own nurse. She would put the children to bed, then go to an official reception, then come back to change diapers.

On this trip, however, the children are staying back home in school.

STRIKES AND WAGE BOARD

Wage Stabilizer Nathan Feinsinger predicted a wave of strikes "almost immediately" if Congress strips the power of the Wage Stabilization Board.

He also told a Senate labor-management committee behind closed doors that he himself would resign immediately if the Senate adopted an amendment by Sen. Everett Dirksen, Illinois Republican, aimed at weakening the wage board.

"The adoption of the Dirksen amendment, or anything like it, would produce chaos," Chairman Feinsinger warned. "Hasty legislation in the delicate field of labor-management relations will open a Pandora's box of confusion and unrest. I should not want to be held responsible for the consequences."

The blunt-spoken wage stabilizer read off a long list of industries that are walking the tight-rope of labor negotiations.

"If the board's dispute functions are taken away," he declared, "I predict that we would almost immediately have strikes in some, or possibly all, of these industries."

Feinsinger warned that Dirksen's proposals would break up the board and mean "the end of tripartism in wage stabilization and disputes settlement."

"I want to say this with all the emphasis at my command," he added solemnly. "I doubt seriously whether the government would ever be able to secure the services of competent and experienced persons to serve on an all-public board, should this board break up."

CENSORING COLUMNISTS

Some publishers censor syndicated columns when columnists' views don't jibe with theirs, but not GOP Sen. Fred Seaton of Nebraska, publisher of the Hastings Tribune and other midwest papers.

Serving in the Senate since the death of Ken Wherry, Seaton, unlike Wherry, has not been for Taft. He has consistently sided with the progressive Republicans. But the other day he got a phone call from his editor.

"You see what happens when you won't let us censor syndicated columnists?" he protested. "Joe Alsop has a column today listing you as a Taft man!"

Senator-Publisher Seaton told his editor to run the column just the same. "A columnist has a right to his opinion," he said. "That's why we run him—to give another viewpoint in the paper."

PURE POLITICS

Republican crack after President Truman dropped his "no-run" bombshell: "The first time I ever heard of the sinking ship deserting the rats." Senator Taft's No. 1 senatorial lieutenant for years has been Owen Brewster of Maine. But now, believe it or not, Owen is trying to sneak off the Taft bandwagon. Eisenhower's two-to-one victory over Taft for Maine delegates was such a terrible blow to Brewster that he figures he'd better look out for his own political skin—especially since the man running against him, Gov. Fred Payne, is an Eisenhower man.

General Eisenhower has not only been reading Walter Lippmann, but taking him seriously. Lippmann says that Ike's now in the uncomfortable position of really campaigning for President while still in the Army and should come home.

Senator Russell of Georgia was so upset at reports of ex-Senator Pepper's backing in Florida that he put through a phone call to his ex-colleague, asked what he was up to. Pepper replied sweetly that his political machine would campaign for Russell. Russell didn't like it much, but there wasn't much he could say after that.

PRIMARIES AND CAUCUSES

Now is the time when the political parties are actively preparing for national conventions. Some states have already held their primaries or caucuses; others will soon hold them. But what is a "primary" and what is a "caucus?"

Basically, "caucus" (CAW-cus) and "primary" (PRY-muh-ri) mean the same thing, politically. Each refers to a meeting of members of the same political party to nominate candidates. The primary is so named because it is the "first" meeting for such a purpose, from Latin "primus," first.

The term "caucus" is used chiefly in New England, but the origin of the name is not positively known. Several of our leading American dictionaries believe it to have come from Algonquian Indian, "caucawau," advisor. Other authorities look to the Medieval Greek "kaukos," which became "caucus" in Medieval Latin, meaning "a drinking cup." And it is known certainly that there was, in Boston, a club about 1735 and later whose members called it the "Caucus Club." In the Diary of John Adams, second President of the United States, an entry in 1763 indicates that the members of the club were heavy drinkers, so it is possible that the name did come from Greek "kaukos."

The term "caucus" is also used to denote a small group of the leaders of a political party who meet for the purpose of deciding upon a course of action.

Beer should be drunk with dignity, says a brewery official. Then it's best to stop after the first couple of glasses.

Road Tests Prove Big Trucks Do Great Damage To U.S. Highways

By WADE JONES

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Those giant trucks which either roar past you at 65 miles an hour, or slow you to a crawl on the hills, are even harder on your pocketbook than on your disposition.

That conclusion can be drawn from the most thorough and scientific highway-use test of its kind ever conducted in this country, though its final results have not yet been made public.

The tests were completed last year over a measured mile of Maryland road under direction of the Highway Research Board of the National Academy of Sciences. Cooperating were the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads and highway departments of 11 states and the District of Columbia.

A principal question was: Do big trucks cause big damage? The answer was yes—an appalling amount.

For instance, on a truck with a single rear axle, a 22,400-pound load causes six times as much pavement cracking as does an 18,000-pound load.

On trucks with tandem axles (two rear axles and at least four rear wheels) a 44,800-pound load causes more than 12 times as much cracking as does a 32,000-pound load.

What does this mean in terms of the road-building dollars which come out of your pocket as a taxpayer?

An answer comes from the American Road Builders' Association. It reports that last year highway construction costs in the eight states permitting axle loads of 22,000 pounds or more averaged $197,000 per mile.

That figure compares with only $25,400 per mile in the 40 states with lower axle limits.

A comparable cost ratio is found for road maintenance and repair.

A joint committee of Congress reveals that cost of correcting highway deficiencies last year averaged $123,675 per mile in the eight higher limit states.

These figures show only a $33.-300 per mile average for correcting deficiencies in the 40 states with lower limits.

The Pennsylvania Highway Commission says maintenance costs on a section of U.S. Route 11 which is used by heavy trucks are 16 times more than maintenance costs on another section of the same highway stretch used primarily by passenger cars.

All of this has led to some pretty sharp comment by official agencies investigating the cost of big truck operation to the taxpayer.

The New Jersey Commission on State Tax Policy broke down the state's 1949 highway payments of $59,468,000 to see how much each vehicle paid of vehicle paid on the basis of ton miles travelled.

The Commission found that each passenger car overpaid $6.29, while each 12-ton truck underpaid $263.79.

The Council of State Governments, reporting on highway legislation in 1951, was a little milder but considerably more comprehensive.

"In many states," the Council reported, "the share of highway costs borne by heavy vehicle has not been in proportion to their use of the highways."

Of paramount importance in the whole subject of truck damage to highways is the matter of overloading—weights heavier than the states' maximums.

Independent truckers staged a brief and futile strike in mid-March against Pennsylvania's 45,000-pound gross weight limit for trucks. They wanted the limit raised to 60,000 pounds.

What kind of highway damage will the truck do that was stopped by Pennsylvania police two years ago? It weighed 130,000 pounds—almost 86,000 pounds over the Pennsylvania limit.

Pennsylvania state police stopped more than 800 trucks in 1950 which weighed from 75,000 to 100,000 pounds.

In Pennsylvania in 1949 more than 12 per cent of all trucks weighed at police check points were overloaded. Oregon caught 14,754 overloads that year, and Illinois a whopping 32,315.

Last October, a Maryland judge fined a trucker $1000 for hauling a 51,000-pound load over a bridge whose posted limit was 20,000 pounds.

Another Maryland judge, at about the same time, fined a trucking company $1001 because one of the drivers refused to permit his truck to be weighed.

Of interest in the matter of six-month Maryland test:

Testing of the 44,800-pound tandem was discontinued after less than four months because the pavement of the test section "had been damaged to such an extent that further operation of test traffic was considered to be hazardous."

Truckers said the test road was not in good condition to start with. But test proponents replied it represented an average stretch of road and had been selected for that reason.

The Maryland test even showed recommendations of the American Association of State Highway Officials to be out of line on one point.

The Association had suggested 32,000 pounds as the maximum for tandems in the belief it caused approximately the same road damage as the 18,000-pound single-axle load.

The Maryland test showed that a tandem load of 24,000 pounds, rather than 32,000 pounds, corresponds to the 18,000-pound single-axle standard.

But here's one happy thing to remember the next time a big truck nearly sucks you up its exhaust pipe as it whooshes past.

Fast trucks, to the surprise of nearly everyone at the Maryland tests, cause less damage to roads than slow trucks.

Twenty per cent less stress was caused by trucks going 40 miles an hour than by those just creeping along.

ELECTIONS—Just around the weekend corner in Escanaba is a city election that is unusual only because four of the five city council seats are at stake.

For this reason if no other the election is highly important to the people of Escanaba and the future of the community.

It could mean that of the present five members of the council, all with the advantage of experience on their side, only one would remain after election. The one certainty is that Mayor Guy Knutson will continue as a council member for another two years, since he is not up for reelection this year.

Two of the other four present council members, S. R. Wickman and Nevin Reynolds, are retiring; two others, Robert E. LeMire and Ed Cox, are candidates.

SIGNIFICANCE—If it had not been for the death of Peter N. Logan only three council seats would be open to council aspirants.

The city charter provides for elections every two years, with three councilmen elected in 1952, for example, and two in 1954. All terms are for four years.

In this way there remains a nucleus of experienced holdovers who can assist newcomers in a better understanding of unfinished business.

This year, however, there is the possibility that Mayor Knutson could be the only holdover.

THE FORTUNATE PEOPLE—For many years Escanaba's city government has been recognized both in Michigan and by the people of the community as satisfactorily progressive.

Men who wanted to serve as members of the city council—men like S. R. Wickman who is retiring after twelve years—were usually reelected. The people in the majority had confidence in them.

No taint of scandal or corruption existed. Public records are always open to the public.

Meetings of the city council are duly reported by the newspapers and the proceedings are tape recorded and broadcast over the local radio station.

If the people do not know what is going on in city government it is their own fault. The information is always available to them.

AMERICAN WAY—Elections are the American way of choosing from the citizenry those persons who are wanted to assist in serving the public.

It is a time-honored custom. In the pre-election campaigns sometimes grow heated, with charges and counter-charges being voiced, it is up to the people to weigh the evidence and render judgment.

Elections are, therefore, of greater importance than many people believe. Unfortunately many people do not vote at all, either through indifference or indifference.

THE VOTES COUNT—In any election it is the votes that tell the story—not the wish or the hope.

Every citizen in Escanaba should have some opinions concerning the capabilities of the candidates in the forthcoming election. The only way those opinions can be counted is in the ballot box.

Failure to vote is an individual denial of individual responsibility in government. By voting the citizen has expressed, in unmistakable terms, his choice for good government. It is the least that he can do.

Escanaba citizens should recognize in Monday's election a challenge to themselves. Their city government will in the next four years largely reflect the thinking of four men elected to council on Monday. It is essential the people choose wisely.

London—The most violent daylight air battle of the spring raged over the continental coast as row upon row of high flying British planes swept over the channel and returned with 11 of their number missing in the bloody encounter with Nam defenders.

Escanaba—Harry Boyle, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Boyle of 1200 N. 18th St., enlisted in the U. S. Marines and left for San Diego to begin training at the Marine base there.

Manistique—Mrs. George Lincoln of Flint was spending the Easter vacation at the home of her mother, Mrs. Emma Burdette.

30 YEARS AGO

Washington, D. C.—The House advanced the national aspirations of 13 million Filipinos by approving, 306 to 47, the Hare bill to give the islands independence in about ten years.

Honolulu—The question of the guilt or innocence of a Hawaiian woman attacker was barred from the trial of Mrs. Gertrude Fortesque, society woman, and her three naval co-defendants charged with the second degree murder of the islander.

Escanaba—Robert Pryal, Escanaba comedian, was added to the cast of the Legion vaudeville program to be presented here and in Gladstone.

Manistique—Hiram Quick, 82, pioneer Manistique lumberman, died at the home of his daughter in Detroit.

Gladstone—Claude W. Hawkins and J. Paul Bushong were re-elected commissioners of Gladstone at a city election.

FORMOSA: Anti-Red Chinese Build Up Strength

AP Newsfeatures

SECRECY shrouds operations of Chiang Kai-Shek's military forces on Formosa. It is known he has between 400,000 and 600,000 trained men, the largest anti-Red fighting force in Asia. About 750 U.S. military advisers help training. Maj. Gen. William C. Chase heads operations. The Chinese get equipment rather than money. Here are pictures brought to America by an Army press officer.

PHYSICAL fitness is stressed. Gen. Chase checks diet, clothing and pay and things go hard with Chinese officers who fail to make recommended improvements.

KNOWLEDGE of weapons is vital. Gen. Chase watches a blind-folded soldier work with a machine gun.

EQUIPMENT is constantly inspected. Here Gen. Chase looks at some armor. Exactly what arms the Chinese forces have been kept secret, but large sums are spent.

Columnist Becomes Retired Fat Man

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—I am a retired fat man.

I used to be round and firm and fully packed. I used to be able to crowd a one-way street. When I stepped on the scales, they didn't just weigh me. They said "ouch!"

But I was a walking porpoise on purpose. I enjoyed being fat. When I laughed I had twice as much fun as a thin man, because there was so much more of me there ready and able to have a good time.

All this is past. The suits I busted out of yesterday now hang upon me in folds. Where I used to bulge I now sag and wrinkle. I ain't exactly the thin man—but I'm on my way.

Why did I give up the happy, self-satisfied, carefree life of a fat man to join the miserable millions of dieting Americans?

Well, to make a clean breast of it, there were two reasons.

First, I was lonely—overwhelmingly lonely. All my friends were on a diet. I began to feel I was the only fat man left in the world. I had nothing to talk about because there was nothing wrong with me. I was just stout and happy—but they don't allow that anymore.

Bulletins Ban Blubber

The second reason I went on a diet is because of my life insurance company. I just hated to go on worrying them. And they were worrying all right. They began putting ads in the magazines and newspapers saying that fat people don't live as long as not-so-fat people, that fat people don't rally so well from illness.

Have my own theory about that. It is this. Fat people who behave like fat people ought to behave—that is, those who take life slow and easy and one stair at a time—live a long while. But fat people who try to act like thin people die young. It is that simple. One of the reasons a whale lives so long is that it doesn't play tennis.

But my life insurance company kept on putting out these uneasy bulletins against blubber, and finally I began to feel they were pointed at me. I suspected they had a vice-president-in-charge-of-worrying-about-Boyle. Well, who wants to cause a life insurance company all that bother? They wouldn't change their policy—so I changed mine.

I went on a diet, like so many, many millions of people are doing.

I took off 17 pounds. It was very easy. Folks like to dream up complicated diets to lose weight, but that is all unnecessary.

Shun Good Things

The quickest, safest and most healthful way to lose weight is to quit eating what you like and eat all you want of what you don't like. My formula is this: If there is something on your plate that looks good, throw it away. Then eat what is left.

The things I hate most in the world to eat are fish, lamb and fresh vegetables of any kind. So that is what I eat, and—ugh!—I wish I could take it intravenously. I defy anybody to eat enough fish, lamb and fresh vegetables to get fat.

Sloughing off those 17 pounds has made a big change in my life. It is pleasant again to hear the girls whistle at me as I pass by and murmur "there goes the tiger man."

I look better and feel better and I know my life insurance company now is relaxing. Secretly, I guess the company is kind of proud of me.

But I do miss the comfortable, solid, sedate feeling that fat gives a fellow. And I am just about as lonely as ever. Because all my friends and enemies want to talk about is diets... diets... diets.

And anybody who can go on talking about fish, lamb, and fresh vegetables is just plain hard up for conversation.

What In The World?

By L. EARLE DAVIDSON
TEHRAN, Iran—Last night our party of 50 American newspaper editors experienced one of the most unusual and exciting airplane flights ever undertaken in this part of the eastern world. When we started this tour of Europe and the Middle East, Pan American World Airways assured us that the best crew on this side of the Atlantic had been assigned to our plane for the entire journey. We are now convinced that there could be none better.

Having been forced to stay in Istanbul longer than anticipated because our plane had been grounded on account of bad weather, our entire schedule was thrown out of gear. We had intended to go to Ankara, capital of Turkey, from Istanbul, but passed up that stop when the weather closed in. Our hotel in Istanbul allowed us to keep our rooms an extra night, but was unable to permit us to stay beyond that time due to previous reservations.

After we checked out of our rooms, we found that the storm which had previously enveloped the region around Istanbul, had moved east right in the path of our intended journey. Anyway, our hotel reservations in Tehran did not begin until the next night. So even if our plane had been able to leave Istanbul that day, we would have had no place to sleep in Tehran.

We sat around the lobby of the hotel Istanbul all that day trying to figure out what to do. Captain Terwilliger of our plane crew remained out at the airport all day checking weather reports. Finally he came up with an idea which appeared to solve the whole situation, providing the storm kept on moving east at its present rate of speed.

The captain figured it out this way. He said his calculations indicated that the storm would move past the Tehran area early the next morning. Therefore, if we started our flight about one o'clock, we would arrive in Tehran just after the storm left. Also, he figured, we would reach the range of mountains, which leads down to Tehran, just before daylight. In view of the fact that the entire flight to Tehran, a distance of nearly 1,500 miles, had to be made by dead reckoning instead of by radio beam, it was important that we meet the mountain range in daylight.

We called our bunch together and took a vote on Captain Terwilliger's proposed plan. So confident was everyone in the captain's ability to take our plane through safely, the vote was unanimous in favor of the 1 a. m. start.

The captain then called his crew together and then spent all that afternoon and evening checking reports and preparing their flight plan. At midnight we all went out to the airport. Our luggage was put aboard the big plane, the motor was warmed up and checked, and exactly at one o'clock the Pan American Clipper zoomed down the long runway and took to the air.

After a while the captain turned operation of the ship over to Art Moen, our copilot, and came back to talk with us. He said we were going to fly at a very high altitude, merely as a safety measure, and advised everyone to relax and remain seated as much as possible. Even so, our stewardess, Gloria Siddell, and steward, Bert Hawkinson, found it necessary to administer oxygen to a couple of us during the night.

Twice during the night our navigator, Tom Howell, "shot the stars" to keep us on course. When the gray of dawn started to break, we could see faintly the terrain below us. It was the most barren, God-forsaken place imaginable. No vegetation, no water anywhere. Just desert.

As the sun began to glisten on the white clouds around us, those mountains started looming up. The captain had reckoned right. We were meeting the mountains in daylight. And the storm had passed on.

According to the captain's flight plan, we were to pass over a confluence of two rivers at twenty minutes past seven. He hit it right on the nose.

All the rest of the way to Tehran our plane flew over barren mountains and through the passes. There was only one tough peak to look out for and that one was right near Tehran. It was a 19,000 foot giant. As we neared Tehran the mountains seemed to get larger. Their peaks were covered with snow.

Then the big one came into view. Everyone felt easier now. We knew it would be only a few minutes before we landed at the Tehran airport. What a captain. What a crew. What a ship.

As we filed into the airport building at Tehran and shook hands with waiting officials, we learned that the Shah of Iran was waiting to receive us at his palace. Because of our late arrival the whole program that had been planned for us was off schedule.

We decided, however, to visit the shah before going to our hotels to freshen up. It was then that Rebecca Gross, of the Lock Haven (Pa.) Express, made the classic remark that, although we had been entertained by royalty in many nations on the trip up to now, "This is the first time I ever went to a palace reception wearing the same clothes I slept all night in."

Governor Signs New Measures

LANSING—(AP)—A bill authorizing legislative committees to subpoena the records of state departments was signed by Governor Williams Friday with the understanding it would not apply to the governor and the supreme court.

He said he understood, and believed the legislature did, that the constitution forbids the legislature to interfere with either the court or the chief executive as separate branches of government.

Williams said he was sure, however, that both the court and the governor would cooperate with legislative committee "in all proper instances."

The governor signed the following bills:

Making it a misdemeanor to sell kerosene with a flash point of less than 121 degrees fahrenheit for use in lights or stoves and repealing a law requiring state police to inspect kerosene.

Limiting the requirement for posting registration cards on camps in state land to the deer season.

Tightening of a law regulating the sale of seeds.

Allowing the state board to sell seven acres of farm land near the Southern Michigan prison to Blackman township school district No. 6.

Increasing the pay of cosmetology board members from $10 to $15 a day.

Extending indefinitely the life of the State Cherry Commission.

Requiring parks exempted from real estate taxes to be open to the general public and exempting real estate owned by any nonprofit trust and used for hospital purposes.

Allowing the state to charge rental against all its agencies in state-owned buildings, a device to help finance a new state office building.

Making minor changes in the plat act.

Imposing tighter restrictions on the shipment and handling of the bodies of dead animals.

Making it a misdemeanor to refuse to yield a party telephone line to someone making an emergency call.

Store's 'Back Room' Now a Charming Home

Here's one way to solve a housing problem. Where a new owner recently took over a small-town furniture store in Wisconsin he found the space more than ample for his merchandising needs so he made the back storage room into a charming home, using decorative insulating board to build new walls and ceilings. The results, after bare brick walls and exposed ceiling joists were finished with the versatile and economical material, are shown here. Rectangular ceiling tiles and vertical planks on the sidewalls built and decorated the living room (upper left). Dining area and kitchen (upper right) have ceilings of insulating board planks and square tiles, respectively. Ivory-tone planks give pleasant lines to the bedroom walls (lower right). The new materials insulate and quiet sound, in addition to building and decorating.

Modern Building Materials Transform Waste Space Into 'Showplace' Apartment

A home is where you make it, even if the site selected is the back storeroom of an old furniture store building. Ledger Reed, enterprising furniture dealer of Saukville, Wis., demonstrated that point in effective fashion recently when he transformed a 24x30-foot area in the rear of his store into a model three-room apartment, including a kitchen and bath and even an individual "front door" and entrance way.

The Reeds' new apartment is now the showplace of Saukville, a tiny town of 699 population some 30 miles northwest of Milwaukee. Its distinctive design and smart use of modern materials, plus up-to-the-minute decorative ideas, have brought it national attention. So many visitors came to see it that the Reeds set aside an entire week for "open house."

The space was simply an empty room when Reed took over the business a couple of years ago. The walls were bare, exposed bricks and the joists of the high ceiling were uncovered. In those respects it was typical of thousands of store back-rooms all over the country. The transformation was pictured in a recent issue of Living for Young Homemakers. It was accomplished principally through the use of decorative insulating board, an economical and multi-purpose material for building interior walls and ceilings. Insulating board was chosen because, in addition to its moderate cost and easy application, it insulates and decorates.

The first step was to erect a framework of 2x4-inch lumber to partition off the new rooms and to lower the ceiling to a convenient height. The ceiling of the 16x24-foot living room was purposely sloped in the direction of the outside wall so that a cove could be constructed on the opposite wall for indirect lighting. A continuous set of ceiling-high closets made up the separating wall between living room and bedroom, with the closets opening into both rooms. The living room area continued in an L-shaped pattern around the bedroom to provide space for a dining nook and kitchen.

Insulating Board Walls
Insulating board in an attractive off-white shade was selected for three of the living room walls. The fourth wall was finished in dado style, with hardboard as a wainscot and insulating board planks, in variegated tones of tan and brown, above it. Insulating board tiles, in light-reflecting white, were placed in an ashlar pattern to form the ceiling.

To mark the dining area, a change in ceiling treatment was used. There insulating board planks, also in white, were laid parallel with the exterior wall. Through suspended ceiling construction, the room height at this point was reduced to that of the lower side of the living room. Insulating board tiles in 16-inch squares covered the kitchen ceiling. These tiles were given a coat of white oil paint.

For the bedroom walls, white insulating board planks were applied vertically, a small bevel at the joints creating an interesting pattern. Insulating board tiles, in the 16-inch squares, provided the ceiling for this cheerful room.

Novel 'Exterior' Treatment
An 8-foot passageway was left to separate the apartment from the main store room. The wall forming the exterior wall of the apartment at that point was covered with large sheets of insulating building board, with decorative batten strips running from floor to ceiling at 16-inch intervals. Between the battens, the board was covered with a wood-patterned wall paper. The addition of a front door of the exterior type completed the out-of-doors appearance of this area.

In planning his model apartment, Reed took advantage of the variety of sizes and shapes in which decorative insulating board is produced. The large sheets, known as building board, come in 4-foot widths and various lengths. He chose a length that would span from floor to ceiling without cutting, thus eliminating waste. Planks in several widths were used for the living room wall and applied in a random pattern. Uniform width planks were applied to the bedroom walls and to the dining area ceiling. The ceiling tiles were selected from a variety of available sizes.

Insulating board products of the type used in the Reed project are being widely used for many kinds of interior remodeling.

Corruption Quiz Has No Progress

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Truman Administration's attempt to clean up government corruption today looked about as pretty as a dove that fell in a tar barrel. Months have passed and still no investigation, although there's been a little excitement and some big talk.

When the noise subsides over the double-firing of Newbold Morris and Attorney General McGrath—Morris by McGrath and McGrath by President Truman—you get to the meat in the coconut with two questions:

1. The heat was on McGrath and his Justice Department but why did it take him so long to get hot?
2. Does Morris know what hit him? (For that matter, who does, outside McGrath and the President?)

On Feb. 1 McGrath appointed Morris to investigate the government. Morris said he'd start with McGrath's own Justice Department. On Feb. 25 he said he'd send government officials a sharp questionnaire about their financial sources.

Why The Delay?
A couple of weeks later he sent the questionnaire to McGrath and his Justice Department first. McGrath had a whole month to decide whether Morris was right or wrong with the questionnaire.

So why, knowing all about the questionnaire so long, did it take McGrath so long to get indignant, so indignant that he sacked Morris, especially since only last Feb. 1 he had promised Morris "complete, enthusiastic and unlimited cooperation."

Morris has been a kind of babe in the woods ever since he came here. He's issued a number of statements which got him headlines but could hardly improve his investigatory technique; he has quarreled with members of Congress who denounced and investigated him; and after two months on the job he had a staff of only 10 lawyers, plus some other help, and had investigated exactly nobody.

Morris seemed to think he had an answer to what hit him, although it's doubtful he has the right one. He said McGrath hired him in the belief he was a soft touch and would never really investigate anyone.

This hardly jibes with the administration's attempt to hire, before Morris agreed to take the job, men who could hardly be described as anybody's soft-touches, men like the late Robert Patterson, former secretary of war, Montana's former Senator Burton K. Wheeler, and Federal Judge Thomas F. Murphy, who sent Alger Hiss to jail when Murphy was a government prosecutor.

Change Of Minds
On Feb. 1 Morris told newsmen he was impressed by McGrath's "sincerity and good faith" in helping him in the investigation. Yesterday he said of his brief Washington career: "If it hasn't accomplished anything else, we have gotten rid of Howard McGrath."

On Feb. 1 McGrath told newsmen "Mr. Newbold Morris is a distinguished lawyer with a reputation for courage, firmness and fairness in dealing with problems that affect the integrity of public service. I earnestly ask the American people to place their trust in the rectitude of his efforts."

Earlier this week McGrath told a committee of Congress—which was quizzing McGrath about his Justice Department and wants to see his income tax returns—that he'd never have hired Morris if he had it to do over again.

Maybe, if McGrath is mad enough, he'll let the cat out of the bag. Or maybe the cat will be pulled out by that same committee whose chairman, Rep. Chelf, Kentucky Democrat, said yesterday his group may call both McGrath and Morris for questioning.

Meanwhile the investigation of government corruption is back where it started months ago, which is no place.

Tape Recording Brings Pastorate

MONTREAL — (AP) — Rev. Alex S. Renton, of Scotland, received a call from the First Presbyterian Church of suburban Verdun after the congregation had listened to a tape recording of his voice.

Unable to come to Canada to preach, the Scotman had a tape recording made and mailed it to Verdun. The congregation met and listened to the play-back. As soon as the recording ended, the members voted to ask the Rev. Mr. Renton to become minister.

The call to the Rev. Mr. Renton follows a decision of the church some years ago to select its pastors from outside Canada. The Rev. Mr. Renton succeeds the late Rev. Donald M. Correal who was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and left a church at Plainfield, N. J., to become pastor at Verdun.

U. S. Loggers Jump To Panama Jungle

By DANIEL J. MARSTON
AP Newsfeatures
BREMERTON, Wash. A band of ambitious loggers and their families are making a big leap from Pacific Northwest forests to the tropical jungles of Panama.

The Lewis and Son Logging Co., a logging concern at the Kitsap County town of Crosby for more than 30 years, has become the Lewis Logging Co. of Panama, Inc. Their axes and saws will henceforth bite into mahogany, rather than Douglas fir and cedar.

Experienced Logger
The man who started the tropical trek is Bill Lewis, a 34-year-old Crosby native, who has been in the logging business 15 years.

"It had to come," Lewis said. "This country is about logged out. There isn't enough timber to go around any more. We'll keep our property here and maybe in 25 years we'll come back and log it." (Many Pacific Northwest logging interests would dispute that statement.)

In a gigantic moving effort, Lewis has transferred everything from giant bulldozers, "cherry pickers" (portable hoists), trucks and power saws on ships to the tropics.

In Supervisory Capacity
He is taking many of his loggers with him, although they will work in supervisory capacities only.

with Panamanian natives doing the actual work in the woods.

"Going into that territory will be just like it would have been to come into the Puget Sound country a hundred years ago," Lewis said. "Those people know little or nothing about modern logging methods."

Antibiotics Claimed Aid To Stock Growth

HALIFAX, N. S. — (AP) — Feeding of poultry and swine with foods spiked with special antibiotic ingredients, a process started in Nova Scotia a year ago, has apparently produced better birds and animals at reduced costs, agricultural officials announced.

Use of the antibiotics brings the stock along quicker, making it ready for marketing at an earlier date. However, the foods have little effect on egg production, said one authority.

Sacrifice Your Own Feelings; Give Your Children A Mother

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph. D.

(Q) "I am 41 years old. I lost my wife a year ago. I have three children, the oldest of whom is 11 years old. Many people have said I should remarry for the children's sake. I wonder. From your experience, would you agree with this advice? I have no one in mind and I miss my wife so much that I'm a little afraid."

N. H.

(A) Of course you miss your wife and the burden of caring for three small children without her help has made it impossible for you to think about the future or to decide what is the best course of action for you to follow.

From my many years of experience in working with human problems, I would agree that you should begin to think seriously of marrying again. But, don't rush into a second marriage, no matter how lonely you are nor how difficult the problems connected with rearing your children become.

You will have to choose even more carefully now than you did when you married the first time. You have three young children to consider in your choice and that means you must suit them as well as yourself.

There are many women who would welcome the chance to be a mother to your children and many who would not. The latter type might not show it until after you were married and this would make the whole marriage a serious mistake.

You can tell ahead of time whether the woman you are considering as your second wife would fit the bill or not by observing her with your children and getting your children's reactions to her. The wrong type of woman would rub the children the wrong way while the right type would have your children urging you to marry her before you yourself had made a final decision.

Don't be afraid of a second marriage. They are frequently as happy as first marriages, though in a different way. Fears and doubts can quickly rob you of the happiness you and your children are entitled to.

As a general rule, the type of woman who loves children enough to devote her time to working with them, such as a teacher, a Sunday School teacher, or a nurse, is the safest bet when selecting a

LUDINGTON BUY-LINES

by Sue Donimus

SAID the cherry to the orange, "Wouldn't that jar you? We're in this jam together!" Yes, Cherry-Orange is just one of the delicious combinations you'll find in The Jam Bar—a smart carton of six kinds of jam packed for gift giving at Eden's Gift Shop. Makes a mighty sweet Easter or Mother's Day present to preserve friendly relationships! Also in Eden's pantry corner I discovered some precious new individual tea pots filled with Ming Jasmine tea. In white or black, just $1.35. Other Chinese teas come packaged in ornate metal boxes. Cuddled ginger makes another sharp gift. See Eden's for these gifts of good taste!

YOU might not wear briefs, but I guarantee the new Munsingwear nylon panties will have your breath coming in short pants. These tiny lace and net trimmed panties live up to that new definition of lingerie—briefly is the soul of it! At Gartner's is a wonderful new supply of Munsingwear lingerie that every woman will want to see and own. Both tailored and lace trimmed nylon slips of beauty and real durability. The Munsingwear nylon gowns come in white and luscious pastels. Half slips and full slips with a net flounce have panties to match. Gartner's can make you queen of the undie world!

SOME people think a revolution is what makes the world go round. In "Viva Zapata", the stirring movie coming to the Michigan Theater on Sunday, Marlon Brando makes more revolutions than the crank on an old Model T. The gilt-edged line-up for this picture includes Darryl Zanuck as producer, John Steinbeck as author, and Elia Kazan as director. In starring roles are Marlon Brando, the very rugged male called "sheer dynamite" by Hedda Hopper, and Jean Peters. It's the story of a fiery Mexican who decides on open rebellion against a tyrant ruler. You'll really thrill to every minute of "Viva Zapata." And Marlon Brando will have you in a little revolution of your own, girls—going around in circles!

DIVORCE is hash made of domestic scraps. By the same token, I suppose, a happy marriage is made of little bits of thoughtfulness. That's why I suggest corsages, cut flowers, or plants from the Nelson Floral Co. for that generous thought of the one you love at Easter. Crisp and fresh cut flowers of real beauty are always available at Nelson's. Their Easter plants include marvelous lilies, azaleas, hydrangeas, and roses. Be sure to buy your Easter flowers at Nelson's. It's the sensible thing to do!

GOLD is the only thing the critics haven't panned. Fashion experts turn a critical eye toward Spring jewelry—and think they've struck gold when they see the fine collection at Blomstrom and Petersen. Some large gold medallions that I saw there yesterday are just the thing to set off the new Spring blouses. Heavy gold and silver bracelets are another important fashion note to be weighed. There's sparkle plenty in Blomstrom and Petersen's rhinestone jewelry, too. A triple row expansion choker necklace has a matching bracelet that will expand any girl's heart to include the man what bought it! It's out of the ordinary if it's out of Blomstrom and Petersen!

WANT to know a good card trick? The Photo Art Shop have put their cards on the table—famous Easter greeting cards made by Dillmark and Rust Craft designers! These cards are always distinctive and at the Photo Art you will find a tremendously large selection for all the friends and relatives you want to remember. Prices from 5c to $1.00. Pretty Easter handkerchiefs, too—take it from a girl who nose!

A BACHELOR is a man who will get married if he can find a girl who loves him as much as he does! I guess a lot of girls make it sound convincing! I hope those wedding plans include a visit to the Office Service Company. A glance at their window display next week will show you all the special things you can buy at OSCO to make the wedding really lovely. Wedding invitations and announcements—either engraved or printed—are available in many attractive styles. A "Bride's Book of Plans", place cards, napkins, wedding decorations are among the features you'll want to see before you laugh and make marry!

FRANCE doesn't have to clean up its govt. It just gets a new one every few days. Most of us can't throw things out at home; we find it's time to clean up and fix up the things we have. When you're putting things in apple pie order, remember to let Ted's Fix-It Shop help with the difficult repair jobs—broken furniture, faulty electrical equipment. Let Ted help you clean house!

I will work for better city management.

I will serve honestly and fearlessly.

I will not be an "easy mark".

The strange cold light produced by fireflies is caused by oxidation of a substance called luciferin, which science has not yet succeeded in making artificially, says the National Geographic Society. Cold light can be man-produced by oxidation of certain chemical substances, but its cost is roughly ten million times that of the same amount of light produced in a 100-watt filament lamp.

Other sentences were: Regina Frankfeld, Frankfeld's wife, two years; George A. Meyers, former Cumberland, Md., textile worker and Frankfeld's successor as district chairman, four years; Leroy H. W. Birmingham Rites Monday

Funeral services for William

Birmingham, 70, retired Soo Line engineer, are to be conducted Monday afternoon at 2 at the Kellie Funeral home, the Rev. Glenn Kjellberg, pastor of Memorial Methodist church, officiating. Masonic rites will be conducted by Gladstone Lodge 396, F. & A. M.

Birmingham suffered a heart attack early Friday afternoon while chopping ice near the garage at the rear of his home at 1323 Minnesota avenue and died shortly after. He had been in ill health for some years.

Birmingham was born in Grey County, Canada, Dec. 15, 1881 and when a young boy was brought to the United States by his parents. He went firing for the Soo Line in Feb. 1907 and in April four years later was promoted to engineer. He retired from service in April, 1944.

He was married to Lida Danielson in Marriam Park, Minn., in 1911. He was a member of Gladstone Lodge 396, F. & A. M., and worshipped at Memorial Methodist church.

Surviving are the widow, one daughter, Helen, of Dearborn, and two sisters, Mrs. Frank Goeman of Days River and Mrs. George Horning of Garden.

LaPine has been serving as a pharmacist since 1939, except for an interlude in the U. S. Army. He is now employed by the Dehlin Drug store.

Germaine spent 13 years with the Michigan State Highway and Liquor Departments, two years in the Seabees and since 1945 has operated a tavern here.

Expect Heavy Vote At Biennial City Election Monday

With eight candidates for City Council and two for justice of the peace in the field, a heavy vote is expected at the biennial city election Monday.

As a result of a campaign conducted recently by the Manistique Rotary Club, city registration is higher than it has been in many years, it is reported at the City Hall. The Rotary committee, continuing its program to stimulate interest in voting, will be on the job Monday to induce as many electors as possible to go to the polls.

Candidates for the three City Council vacancies are Walter Burns, George Stephens and Otto Schubring, incumbents, and Mrs. Erroll Abell, Vern Linderoth, R. Z. Bertrand, George Huber and Edward Parker.

Seeking a two-year city justice vacancy are Victor P. Deemer, incumbent, and John B. Nessman.

Polls will open at 7 a. m. and close at 8 p. m. Voting places are: First precinct, Linderoth Sales and Service building; second precinct, Lincoln school; third precinct, justice court; and fourth precinct, Lakeside school.

PURR-FLIXING PROBLEM—Cats, lots of 'em. Two jaguar babies, a leopard infant, and a slightly wistful tiger cub, right, are cluttering up the office of the Cleveland, Ohio, zoo. It's the

Norden Extends Thanks For Help At 4-H Program

Alan J. Norden, District 4-M Club agent, has expressed his thanks for the fine support and assistance given by business places and individuals for the Schoolcraft County Achievement program April 2 and 3. The exhibit of 4-H Club projects held at the Lincoln school gym was viewed by 1,000 persons, many of whom expressed their appreciation of the fine work accomplished under the 4-H program.

Among the business places which co-operated in making the achievement program a success were the Peoples' Store, which donated the green ribbons worn by the 4-H members; the J. C. Penney and D.M.C. stores, which supplied decorations for the stage for the style revue; the Oak Theater management, who gave the use of the theater for the program; the Manistique Board of Education, which permitted use of the Lincoln gym; Mrs. Ada Watson, county school commissioner; Mrs. Walter Busch, who served as chairman of the style revue; Mrs. G. Leslie Bouschor, who provided the background music for the show; the Daily Press and the Pioneer Tribune for publicity.

Norden also expressed his appreciation to all county 4-H leaders whose fine job of leadership made the successful program possible. "The entire exhibit would be just so many words on paper without the efforts of the local 4-H leaders," he said.

Fire Season Plans Made

Plans for the 1952 forest fire season in the Manistique district of the Hiawatha National Forest were outlined at a meeting of fire wardens Thursday at the office of Edwin Crook, Manistique forest ranger.

During the next two weeks fire fighting equipment will be checked and readied for the beginning of the fire danger season, expected to open in late April when many areas will be dry. The district's fire tower at Steuben will probably be manned during the latter part of April, depending on weather conditions, Crook said.

District wardens are Frank Richards, Thompson; Jacob Landers, Isabella; Phil Herrmann, Steuben; George Swagart and William Strassler, Cooks; and Leslie Savage, Big Spring Corners.

Herbert Popour, of Cooks, is district fire guard and Eugene Scott is Steuben towerman.

The forest ranger pointed out that state regulations on brush

Dick spent his first season in organized baseball last year at Big Stone Gap of the Class D Mountain States League . . . As a rookie, Dick had himself a good debut . . . His club finished one spot out of the cellar in the eight team circuit . . . The Official Baseball guide for 1952 carries the following information about Dick's last season.

He batted .273 in 110 games, coming up to the plate 421 times and collecting 115 hits . . . He scored 62 runs . . . Included in his hits were 17 doubles, three triples and four home runs . . . He stole three bases, walked 40 times, drove in 57 runs and whiffed 58 times . . . Playing at shortstop Dick had a .865 fielding percentage and was in on a fat 37 double plays . . . Only four shortstops in the league figured in more double plays than Dick.

The former star Escanaba athlete won't be able to get any baseball in at Camp Roberts . . . The post does not have a baseball team this season, although it has fielded one in the past . . . Camp Roberts does have a basketball team, however, and Dick is on it . . . If Dick had been able to remain in the Giants' baseball organization this year he would have been offered a contract with the Oshkosh Giants of the Wisconsin State league, the team for which Rusty Hiltunen pitched last season.

Kutches Gets Bid To National North-South Cage Game On June 14

Escanaba St. Joseph's Pete Kutches has already accumulated a mammoth share of Upper Peninsula and state basketball honors and seems headed for even more widespread recognition.

The amazing Trojan cage star, regarded the greatest in St. Joe's athletic history, has received a bid from the sponsors of the national high school North-South classic to be played in Murray, Ky., June 14.

Although it is in the form of an application and doesn't assure the Trojan flash a berth on the North squad, chances are good that he will eventually be tendered a formal invitation. Kutches' record on the hardwoods this past season is believed one of the outstanding in the nation.

Fourth Annual Announcement of Kutches' nomination as a candidate was made by Edd Kellow, chairman of the selections committee at Murray. This is the fourth annual North-South classic.

If Kutches is named to the squad he will travel to Murray a week in advance of the game. All traveling expenses will be paid by the sponsors and players are housed in college dormitories. Appearance in the game does not endanger eligibility in college athletics as the game is played within all limits and regulations of the NCAA.

Konno Seeking First 'Triple'

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—(AP)—Ford Konno, the bright new star of the swimming world, hopes tonight to score his first "triple" in big-time American competition.

With smashing triumphs behind him in the 1500-meter and 220-yard free style tests, he is favored to win the 440-yard race, a feature of the finale of the three-day National AAU indoor swimming championships in Yale's lavish pool.

Once again, Konno's main obstacles are Yale's John Marshall, Jim McLane and Wayne Moore, representing the New Haven swim club, whom he has beaten twice already.

Should Konno do it, he'll succeed an unhappy, but courageous Marshall, the Australian whiz, who has been shorn of two of the three titles he won in 1951, and doesn't appear to have it to protect his 440-yard crown. In one of yesterday's big surprises, Marshall failed to even qualify in the 220, eventually won by Konno.

Three American records were established last night, three meet records broken and one meet mark equalled in a series of exciting races. The standard shatterer included John Davies, the University of Michigan's star from Australia, 220-yard breaststroke; Dick Thomas of New Haven swim club, who dethroned Jack Taylor of Ohio State in the 100-yard backstroke; Burwell Jones of the University of Michigan, the new 300-yard individual medley champ. The New Haven Swim Club's "A" 400-yard relay team equalled its meet mark.

In addition to Konno, Davies, Thomas, Jones and the New Haven Swim Club, which leads Ohio State in a scrap for team honors, 58 to 47, the other champ to be crowned was Skippy Brown of Texas, one-meter dive.

Tied with 142's were Tommy Bolt, Jim Ferrier and John Revolta. Among 143 shooters was Johnny Palmer who had a 74 after leading the field with Ray Gafford in the first round.

Other 143 men were Jack Burke Jr., George Fazio and amateur Harvie Ward Jr. Gafford slumped from his first round 69 to an 80.

Ever since Hogan returned to tournament play after he was seriously injured in an auto accident in the winter of 1949, he has either whipped or finished higher than Snead in every major tournament except two.

Snead won a playoff from Hogan for the 1950 Los Angeles open championship and finished third to Hogan's fourth in the 1950 Masters.

'Snap Courses' Are Ruled Out

CHICAGO—(AP)—The nation's most powerful academic accrediting agency has armed a committee with the power to expel member schools that violate a new athletic reform program.

A convention of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools set up the program yesterday. It approved a new code, effective Sept. 1, which strikes at "snap courses," athletic scholarships and over-emphasis on winning.

Approximately 1,000 delegates voted to make violations punishable by possible dismissal from the association's list of 350 accredited universities and colleges in a 19-state area, including all Big Ten schools and parts of the Missouri Valley and Big Seven conferences.

Authority to serve public warning, to place on probation, or suspend, any violator of the new code is given the association's commission on universities and colleges.

The commission will rule on complaints passed on by a new committee on athletic reports. Loss of accreditation is considered a serious blow to a school's standing.

The new code sets forth these theories on athletics: Heads of colleges are "ultimately responsible" for wholesome conduct of intercollegiate athletics at their schools.

New Leaders In ABC Tournament

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—St. Louis bowlers completely stole the show yesterday in the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Ziern Antiques, composed of bowling instructor Don Carter; Ray Bluth, bowling equipment salesman; electrician Tom Hennessey; Pat Patterson, a truck driver; and Captain Don McClaren, also a bowling equipment salesman, went into first place in the team all events with a blazing 9,216—an average of 204.36. Individual honors also fell to the Zierns.

King Louie Shirts of Chicago had taken the team all events lead Wednesday with 9,089.

Carter was the big gun in the attack, rolling to the individual all events lead and placing third in the singles. He had 586 in team, 643 in doubles and 703 in singles for 1,932 in all events. His 703 in singles was garnered on 234, 237 and 232.

Creditable showings were made by the defending doubles champions, Bob Benson and Eddie Marshall of Lansing, Mich. Shooting on different teams, Benson compiled 618 and Marshall 591. They shoot in the doubles and singles today.

Another former champion, Larry Shotwell, Cincinnati, who held the singles record of 774 until Lee Jourlard of Detroit beat him by one pin last year, made a poor showing with 521.

Spartans End Tour Of South With 10-9 Defeat From Duke

DURHAM, N. C.—(AP)—The Michigan State baseball team's southern training tour ended on a sour note for the Spartans yesterday as MSC pitcher Don Quayle walked in the winning run to give Duke a 10-9 extra-inning victory.

The game broke up in the home half of the tenth. Starter Bob Dangel gave up a pair of singles, and Quayle went in to relieve him. The usually-steady Quayle walked the first batter who faced him. Then pinch-hitter Johnny Gibbons stepped to the plate and drew the pass that ended the game.

State finished with eight victories and four losses in the south. Six pitchers, one catcher and one outfielder on the Washington Senator's roster hail from Cuba.

Cage Doubleheader At Bonifas Gym Tonight

One of the final basketball attractions of the season will be offered here tonight in the form of a cage doubleheader at Bonifas gymnasium, matching four top notch independent quints.

Host team is Al's Tavern which will be seeking revenge against the Bonnie's Pasty Shop quint of Norway. Bonnie's edged Al's in the championship game of the Hermansville Gold Medal tournament last weekend.

In the nightcap Escanaba Kessler's Bar takes on Joe's Tavern of Hermansville. The opening game is slated for eight with the windup due to start at 9.

Al's youngsters, former local high school stars, will be bolstered by the addition of Gerald Harris, former St. Joe ace who is a student at Michigan Tech in Houghton. Harris, Jack Courneene and Dale Gibson of Al's were named to the all-tournament Class B first team, selected from among the players on 20 teams competing.

In action for Norway will be Louis Taccolini, Northern Michigan College cage great who was named the outstanding Class B player in the Gold Medal tournament.

Remainder of the Norway quint is made up of Northern students and former Norway High School stars, including Don McCarthy, Glenn Hultquist, Don Hill and others.

Kessler's team made a strong bid for Class A honors last weekend, losing out in the semi-final round. The team will be led by rebounding ace Don Lewis, who will tangle with big Tom Pater-noster of Iron Mountain. Pater-noster also made the all-tournament Class B team at Hermansville.

Don Eaddy Is Rated Comer At Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—Keep an eye on Don Eaddy. The University of Michigan athlete gives every indication he is going places in the college sports world.

He hasn't even finished his freshman year in the ranks of the Wolverines. But he has already shown great promise on the football field, has lettered as a regular guard on the basketball squad and is now with the baseball squad on its southern tour.

And judging from the comments of those close to the quick-moving Negro from Grand Rapids, baseball is his forte.

Grand Rapids Star

Eaddy, a former high school star at Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills, came here during the western conference's experimental approval of Big Ten competition for freshmen, an approval since revoked.

But he took great advantage of the chance.

Statistically, his football record is not impressive. His nine attempts at carrying the ball resulted in a loss of 49 yards. He completed one of his three pass attempts for 23 yards. But the slippery halfback was making his first appearance in big-time college ball—and a year earlier than was the previous custom. Coach Bennie Oosterbaan and his staff are agreed Eaddy has great collegiate grid promise.

Made Cage Shift The switch to college basketball was much smoother for Eaddy. From the start, he was a regular, competing in 22 games and scoring 199 points for a nice 9.04 average for the season. He attempted 301 shots and scored 81 field goals for a healthy 26.9 percent. At the free throw line, he converted 37 of his 77 attempts. That's a fine 48 per cent.

And now baseball, where his friends say he is strongest. He is an outstanding candidate for third base and if a rifle arm and agile fielding mean anything, he'll probably be regular there when the squad returns home to open the regular season April 19 against Wayne University. With a start like Eaddy has made in his freshman year, there are those who predict he's heading for the elect company of such famed three-sport stars as Pete Elliott and even Oosterbaan, who is regarded as one of the brightest symbols of Wolverine athletic prowess.

The Umpire

By BEANS REARDON 24 Years in National League NEW YORK—(NEA)—Q. What was the shortest big league game within your memory?

A. On Sept. 28, 1919, the Giant and Phillie played a full nine-inning game in 51 minutes. New York won 6-1.

Q. How many seasons did Max Carey lead the National League in stolen bases?

A. For 10 years—from 1913 through 1925.

With the exception of three—the old Pittsburgh outfielder paced the pack. In one season, he pilfered 51 bases in 53 attempts.

Q. What pitcher holds the major league total strikeout record?

A. Walter Johnson with 3497. His mark is likely to stand for all time. In 1913, incidentally, he posted an earned-run figure of 1.15.

Q. Did Larry Loeie ever play on a baseball pennant winner?

A. With all the brilliance of his 21-year big league career, and his lifetime batting average of .338, the Hall of Fame second baseman was not on a pennant winner until he managed Toronto to the International League crown in 1917.

Hot Golfer Gets Hot Under Collar

AP Newsfeatures TAMPA, Fla.—It could have happened in the Baseball Writers' golf tournament at Palma Ceia but a story being kicked around here goes like this:

When a golfer was seen driving off in front of the markers another member of his foursome said—

"You can't do that. You'll lose the hole."

"What for?" asked the glofer.

"For driving off in front of the markers."

"Go on back to the clubhouse," said the golfer. "I'm playing my third stroke."

Amateur Wrestler Posts Five Wins, Disqualified

ITHACA, N. Y.—(AP)—Frank Bettucci, pug-nosed muscle man of Cornell University, won five straight matches in the National AAU wrestling championships, and in the process polished off a couple of highly rated contenders.

But when he had won his fifth bout in Cornell's Barton Hall last night, the young welterweight found himself eliminated—victim of the sport's confusing scoring system which would confound an Einstein.

Technically, he was out of it. But an unusual set of circumstances which saw the officials themselves stumped on their higher mathematics give Bettucci another chance and predictions were that he not only would win the National 147.5-pound championship tonight but also might gain the "outstanding wrestler" award.

Still Has Chance

Actually, Bettucci must win two round robins if he is to come through in his division, regarded as the toughest in the tournament. Here is the situation.

After three rounds of eliminations yesterday, the welterweight class was found left with only two survivors, Edwin Rooney of the Long Island grapplers and former champion Newt Copple of Champaign, Ill. All the others, including Bettucci, had fallen by the wayside through an unexpected accumulation of demerit points.

The officials, needing three men in each division for the round robin trials, were thrown into temporary panic.

Finally, after a huddle that lasted beyond midnight, they decided on a preliminary to the round robin involving Bettucci, 43-year-old Dr. Melvin Northrup, three-time past winner in higher weight divisions, and Robert Bury of the Long Island grapplers.

The winner goes into the final against Copple and Rooney.

Demerit Points Under AAU and Olympic rules, wrestlers are eliminated by demerit points. These can be avoided only by winning on a fall. A contestant gets one black mark for each decision win and three for each loss. Five demerits bring expulsion.

Thus Bettucci, under these rules, eliminated himself technically by winning five matches on decisions.

Uncle Sam's chief Olympic hopes moved forward without incident, including the 1948 Olympic light heavyweight champion, police sergeant Henry Wittenberg of New York.

New Rule On Wind Sprints Brings Howl From Manager

By GAYLE TALBOT OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—The funniest ruckus of the spring has risen from the new National League ruling that its players who are not in an exhibition game must not do their wind sprints across the outfield while play is in progress.

It's an old training custom and we've never heard a fan complain about it, but President Warren Giles of the National League decided it didn't look tidy and ordered his athletes to desist. The American League failed to follow suit, so there was bound to be a rife.

The New York Giants and Cleveland Indians agreed to alternate on "home" games during their long tour north, and Manager Al Lopez of the Indians consented not to let his boys exercise during games in which the National leaguers were in residence. It made him sore, but he agreed.

Out Of Sight Then what happened. Before the Indians' very first home game at Wrigley field in Los Angeles, President Don Stewart of the Angels advised Al that his excess players would have to remain out of sight. He said that if they did not he would toss both teams off the premises and refund the fans their money.

Al fumed and asked the dignified Stewart who he thought he was and told him what he could do with his ball park, but the ukase stuck and the Indians remained immobile that day. It's still a very touchy subject with the Tampa nugget, who thinks the National League rule is thoroughly silly.

"We go to training camp and spend a lot of money to get our players in shape, not to entertain the fans out this way," he contends. "Running is one of the best ways of getting in shape, and on a tour of one-night stands like this it's sometimes hard to get to the park in time to do much more than limber up before the game starts. It's necessary for the idle men to run during a game and mine are going to do it when we're the home club. If the fans don't like it they can stay home."

Fans Like It "As a matter of fact, I think they do like it. I think they get a kick out of watching a famous pitcher like Bob Feller out there running his head off for an hour or so and then doing his calisthenics. Otherwise they might never see him at all.

"It's been suggested that I let my men run only while the teams are changing over between innings, but that's no good. There's time for only about one dash across the field, and then the players would cool off before they got another chance."

Charles Kocsis of Royal Oak, Mich., had the best amateur score in the U. S. Open golf championship last June. His 297 was 10 strokes behind the winner, Ben Hogan.

College Ring Champs Seek Crowns Tonight

MADISON, Wis.—(AP)—Twin awards—shots at U. S. Olympic team berths and top collegiate boxing honors of the year—are at stake tonight in the University of Wisconsin fieldhouse.

The 10 champions to be crowned in the finals of the 15th annual NCAA boxing tournament earn bids to Olympic trials at Kansas City and individual trophies. A near capacity crowd of about 12,000 is expected to watch the fist action.

Two knockouts and an upset of a two-time champion marked the tournament semi-finals viewed last night by 10,024 fans who also saw the host Wisconsin squad qualify four men and become a virtual shoo-in for the team trophy.

Fastest TKO

Light heavyweight champion Chuck Spieser of Michigan State, one of three defending titlists bidding for their second crowns, registered the fastest knockout of the meet. He floored Don Quarles of North Carolina A & T twice with hard rights before their bout was stopped at 34 seconds of the first round.

Spieser's victory goes into the books as a TKO, though, as does a slightly slower job by Ellisworth Webb of Idaho State on MSC's Herb Odom. Both bouts were stopped before the counts were completed. Webb slammed Odom to the mat with a short right at 1:52 of the opening round in their light middleweight match. Archie Slaton of Miami (Fla.) turned in the night's upset, out-pointing Everett Conley of Washington State, the collegiate lightweight king for the past two years.

One Winner Out

The other two champions who posted semi-final victories were heavyweight Bob Ranck of Wisconsin and featherweight Neil Osthus of Minnesota. Ranck and Marvin Gregory of Santa Clara put on a slugging match while Osthus outboxed hard punching Micky Demos of Miami. Both title defenders earned unanimous decisions.

One semi-final winner won't get a crack at a championship. George Kartalian of Syracuse won a 3-0 verdict over Mike McMurry of Gonzaga in the light heavyweight class but suffered a cut over his right eye. Attending physicians ordered him scratched because of the injury, giving McMurry the chance to meet Spieser for the title.

Wisconsin rolled up 17 points last night and the five more given for a title would put them out of reach of their only challengers, defending champion Michigan State and Louisiana State with 9 points each.

Young Phillie Hurler Chalks Up No-Hitter

By RALPH RODEN

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Fortune at last has begun to smile on Steve Ridzik, 22-year-old rookie righthander of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Ridzik turned in the gem of his career yesterday at Savannah, Ga., as he pitched the Phils to a no-hit 3-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Yonkers, N. Y., native, named recently as one of the Phils' starters by Manager Eddie Sawyer, has had little to cheer about until this season.

Suffered Injury

Ridzik joined the Phils' organization when he was 16. His best season to date was in 1949 when he won 15 with Utica. This earned him a tryout in 1950, but his dreams were shattered when he suffered a fractured knee cap in an intra-squad game. Last year, with a poor Baltimore team, Ridzik won 5 and lost 11, but nevertheless was taken to camp for another chance.

The youngster capped his brilliant pitching this spring with his no-hitter. Ridzik was slightly wild, walking four and hitting three Cards but was tough in the pinch. He now has pitched 11 hitless innings and 17 scoreless frames.

Freebooter Is Made Favorite

AINTREE, England.—(P)—Firm footing made the 11-year old Freebooter the 100 to 8 favorite today to win the 106th Grand National Steeplechase over Aintree's gruelling course of four miles, 856 yards and 30 difficult jumps.

Carrying top weight of 175 pounds and the silks of Mrs. Lurline Brotherton, Freebooter went to the post the top choice of an estimated crowd of 250,000.

Freebooter faced the challenge of 47 other probable starters in the world's most famous equine jumping event starting at 10:15 a. m., EST.

The United States was represented by two horses, both of them bred on this side of the Atlantic. One was St. Kathleen 2d, owned by Sam Small of Garrison, Md.

The other U. S. entry is a father-son combination of George and Gene Weymouth of Greenville, Del.

Gene, a 19-year old six-foot, three-inch amateur jockey, was up on Possible, which he purchased a few days ago from the Dutchess of Norfolk for his father, who is in the horse brokerage business. The experts made Possible a 100 to 1 outsider.

Relief pitcher Ted Wilks is the oldest member of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Ted is 36 years old.

TOO MUCH SNOW
WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont.—(P)—The Lionhead ski run near here was closed for three weeks at the height of the winter season—too much snow. When it was reopened, it took bulldozer crews three days to clear a road to the run through two miles of drifts.

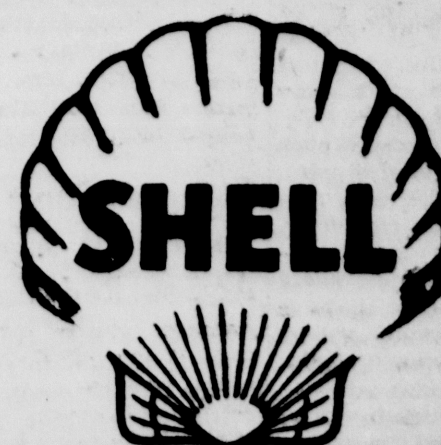

DOGgy DISCUSSION
The dog probably was the first animal to be domesticated by man. It happened so long ago that the dog's origin is rather obscure. Most important ancestor of the modern dog seems to have been the wolf.

Frogs and toads use their eyes to help them swallow. The eyeballs are pulled down, and the food is forced down the throat.

Michigan Makes Bid For Honors In Fifth Annual Relays Event

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—(P)—Michigan today led the Midwest and East in a strong bid for top laurels in the fifth annual Southern Relays.

Florida and Auburn, however, offered potential individual champions in crowded events which brought almost 400 college and university contenders.

College and university competition kicked off at 12:30 p. m. (CST) with the 100-yard dash, 120-yard high hurdles and javelin thrust.

Capt. Don McEwen, NCAA two-mile champion for the past two years, led Michigan's bid for a distance medal crown, now held by Tennessee.

Michigan Fight Fans Want Look At Davey

DETROIT.—(P)—When will Chuck Davey, the socking scholar, get a big-name fight in Detroit?

A prominent International Boxing Club official disclosed today that the IBC is trying to work out something to quell the howls of Michigan fight fans, who want to see the state's No. 1 title hope in action.

The IBC hopes to see Davey battle either undefeated John Saxton or undefeated Gil Turner—two top welterweight contenders—in Detroit in late May or June, said the official who declined to be identified publicly.

On Prelims

Davey, himself unbeaten in 32 pro bouts, hasn't fought in Detroit since he was a comparative unknown on the preliminary card at Olympia Stadium.

Davey fought in several main attractions outstate, but never against big name fighters.

Of course Davey must defeat Chico Vejar, once-beaten New Yorker, in their May 7 bout in Chicago if he hopes to meet Turner or Saxton.

However a fair-sized monkey wrench was tossed into the works yesterday by the New York State athletic commission, which said Davey will have to fight Carmen Basilio in the latter's home town of Syracuse April 24 if he wants to meet Vejar for the Chicago bout.

Suspension Threat

The commission said Davey would be suspended if he failed to go through with the Basilio bout. Thus, since Illinois and New York recently agreed to cooperate on boxing cases, any suspension of Davey would apply to Chicago, and the scheduled bout next month would be off.

Davey's managers had asked for a postponement of the Basilio 10-rounder because Chuck had been signed after to take on Vejar.

Before the New York action was known the IBC official told the Associated Press that the likely date for Davey's appearance in Detroit was Wednesday, May 28. It would be televised and broadcast nationally.

He indicated Turner was the No. 1 choice as Davey's foe. But if Turner is signed to a title fight with champion Kid Gavilan for June or July, that would rule out Turner. Saxton would then step into the picture.

Both Beat Williams

Davey, holder of a master's degree at Michigan State, popped into the limelight with his March 26 victory over former champion like Williams in Chicago. Davey stopped Williams in the fifth round.

The IBC official said Steve Ellis, Vejar's manager, had hoped the Vejar-Davey fight would go to Detroit.

"But we had an open date to fill at Chicago and this fight filled the bill," the official said. "I'm sure Davey would draw better in Detroit than anywhere and we're working on that."

Saxton is a 21-year-old Negro from Newark, N. J., who has won half his fights by knockouts. Their only common foe was Tommy Ciarlo. Davey kayoed him in the fourth and Saxton kayoed him in the fifth.

Turner is a 21-year-old Negro from Philadelphia. He's knocked out virtually all his opponents. Turner knocked out Williams in the 10th (Davey did the same in the fifth). Williams was their only common foe.

Training Camp Briefs

TOP HURLERS

DALLAS.—(P)—Dallas fans will get a look at four of the best pitchers in the major leagues in the exhibition games between the Cleveland Indians and New York Giants here today and tomorrow.

Mike Garcia (20-13) opposes Larry Jansen (23-11) of the Giants here today, and tomorrow the Giants' top hurling star, Sal Maglie (23-6) goes against Bob Lemon (17-14).

The Giants' 5-3 decision in Oklahoma City yesterday ended a string of seven straight exhibition losses to the Tribe.

Four of the five Giant markers yesterday were unearned—two on a fumble by second baseman George Stinewiss and two more on a miff by shortstop Ray Boone. Two of the Indians six hits were homers by Al Rosen and Larry Doby.

WINDY BALK

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—(P)—Tommy Byrne, St. Louis Browns pitcher, blames the Texas wind for a balk yesterday.

Eddie Robinson of the Chicago White Sox took second with a double in the fifth inning. As Byrne wound up to pitch to George Wilson, the strong wind came along and Byrne went off stride. Umpire Bill Summers waved Robinson to third.

Byrne still balked and pitched the Browns to a 5-4 decision over the White Sox.

FINE HELPS

CHARLES, S. C.—(P)—Third-baseman Willie Jones has been going like a speedster since Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Philadelphia Phillies fined him for training violations.

His fielding against the St. Louis Cardinals at Savannah, Ga., yesterday helped save a no-hit, no-run game for Rookie Steve Ridzik.

Jones accounted for two of the three runs the Phillies made, slamming a homer with a team-mate on base.

HECTOR TO STAY
SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—(P)—Hector Rodriguez, a rookie at 31, has reversed a dismal training season start and now seems assured of sticking with the Chicago White Sox this season.

Rodriguez, a third baseman, was the International league's "rookie of 1951," playing with Montreal.

He reported to the Sox this spring but was a disappointment in early workouts. His fielding was sloppy and his batting average negligible.

But Rodriguez suddenly reversed form, performing brilliantly and at the plate. In his last 19 times at bat before the Sox broke camp in Arizona, the Cuban Negro made eight hits. He also stole two bases.

KNEE BETTER
NEW ORLEANS.—(P)—Ron Northey, veteran outfielder of the Chicago Cubs, apparently has recovered completely from a bad knee that kept him out of action all last season.

An operation on the knee was entirely successful, Northey believes. He says he can run and slide well.

Northey, 31, has been on a diet and now weighs 203. In nine years in the minors he compiled a batting average of .275.

Loss Of Williams Is Jolt To Bosox

By JOE REICHLER

TULSA, Okla.—(P)—This is the year when the "I hate Williams club" will have an opportunity to prove what it has maintained all along—that the Boston Red Sox are better off without Ted Williams.

That all the records proved to the contrary . . . that expert opinion rated Williams as one of the greatest of all sluggers did not stop the anti-Williams forces.

Well, here is their chance. For Williams is practically gone. On May 2 the slim 33-year-old slugger will be Capt. Theodore Williams of the U. S. Marine Corps.

Mates Worried

Now do Williams' teammates feel about his loss?

"This kills us," said third base-

Araujo Stops Riley In 9th

NEW YORK.—(P)—Television fight fans across the country have had their first look at Georgie Araujo. They may have seen the next lightweight champion of the world.

Rarely has a touted newcomer come through in a fashion to equal his pre-fight raves. The 20-year old Providence 134-pounder did just that against experienced Charley Riley of St. Louis at the St. Nicholas arena last night.

Icy calm and fast with his hands and feet, the Negro had handed the 28-year old veteran a neat shelling through the first eight rounds and stopped him in 1:09 of the ninth round of the ten rounder. There were no knock-downs but Araujo stunned Riley in the third, eighth and ninth rounds.

Unbeaten in 24 years, Araujo racked up his 29th straight victory and his 29th knockout, although it was of the technical variety. His record now is 42 victories and one defeat.

Manager Angelo Pucci feels his phenom is ready to meet lightweight champion Jimmy Carter right now.

"I'm ready," said Araujo, the meal ticket of a family of 12.

Queen To Visit Mrs. Roosevelt

By RUTH COWAN
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Queen Juliana, the Netherlands' hard-working ruler, goes roundabout to Hyde Park, N. Y., today for a weekend visit with another busy woman, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. They're long-time friends.
Reporters who've covered the activities of famous women here agreed the Queen was as difficult to keep up with as Mrs. Roosevelt. Juliana's departure ends three bustling days in which she kept on the move day and night. She shook thousands of hands; addressed Congress; gave toast to three state dinners; delighted news correspondents at a luncheon in her honor; braved her first news conference; presented a carillon to the American people.
And through it all, she kept her royal nose powered.
The visit with her husband, Prince Bernhard, was spent in the newly-refurbished White House. They were the first guests there since its renovation.
The royal party leaves by plane at 9:15 a. m. (EST) for a flight to Philadelphia. A quick look at the Liberty Bell and then the group will visit the U. S. Military Academy at West Point around noon.
The queen later will motor to Kingston, N. Y., for a celebration of the 300th anniversary of that city's founding by the Dutch.

CAMERA TELLS TALL TALE—Apparently, either the Washington Monument now comes in the convenient portable size, or actor Tony Curtis has been doing some tall growing. Actually, the photographer saw the possibility of an unusual camera angle, and produced this illusion.

Youth Held In Jail After Fight At Club

Escanaba police reported today they are holding in jail a 16-year-old Escanaba boy who last night was taken in custody after a fight at the K. of C. recreation club.
Police went to the club on complaint of nearby residents, who said youths were noisy in the street. Officers reported they found a fight underway in the club with two youths involved and Harry Gagner, club custodian, trying to separate them.
The 16-year-old who had bloodied the face of his opponent was taken in custody. The officer reported the youth appeared to be intoxicated and struggled in the police car and finally ripped out the radio speaker and escaped.
Forty-five minutes later the youth was again taken in custody in a downtown lunch room. Seven officers were employed in taking the youth to the station.
Probate Judge William Miller advised police to hold the youth in city jail.

Allied Pilots Down 1,053 Planes In Korean Sky Battles

TOKYO, Saturday — (AP) — Far East Air Forces said today that Allied pilots have destroyed or damaged 1,053 Communist planes since the Korean war started.
Allied losses—not counting United Nations Naval planes—were listed as 622. Of this figure 490 were lost to Red ground fire, 68 in air combat, and 64 due to other causes not explained in detail.
FEAF said the Communist toll included 278 MIG-15s destroyed, 64 probably destroyed and 468 damaged. Other types of Red planes brought the grand total to 413 destroyed, 115 probably destroyed and 525 damaged.
The Allied losses in air combat were listed as 48 U. S. Air Force jets, 16 U. S. Air Force propeller-type planes, and four "friendly foreign" planes.

Wall Street

By RADER WINGET
NEW YORK — (AP) —Extremely slow trading marked the short session of the stock market today with prices narrowly mixed.
Markdowns in prices generally were in the smaller fractions with many leaders unchanged. Gains were similarly small.
It was the approaching strike in the steel industry that caused the slowdown in trading, of course, with traders and investors alike holding to the sidelines.
Steel shares were mixed over a range of a few eighths of a point. In the same class were rails, motors, utilities, oils, and chemicals.
The gold mining issues were unchanged to a shade higher, however. The radio-television section was unchanged to lower, also without activity.
Pepsi-Cola, off an eighth yesterday at 9 7/8, held unchanged today. The company reported profits for 1951 equal to 46 cents a share as compared with 22 cents the previous year. The company announced it hoped to resume payment of dividends this year.
Hupp Corp. traded one large block of 14,500 shares off 1/4 at 3. Stocks losing ground today included Standard Oil (NJ), United Air Lines, Kennecott Copper, Air Reduction, Westinghouse Electric, Republic Steel, and Radio Corp.
Higher were Goodyear, J. I. Case, Homestake Mining, Dome Mines, Dow Chemical, American Tobacco, Sinclair Oil, and U. S. Gypsum.
Corporate bonds were steady at the start.

Remedy Sought For High Water

WASHINGTON, D. C. —(Special From Washington News Service)
—At a conference here, a committee of representatives largely from the Great Lakes states, has asked the International Joint Commission to make inquiry on the causes of the high water in the lakes and also to make recommendations on a remedy for the high water which is causing tremendous damage to property in the area.
The International Joint Commission was created by a treaty between the United States and Great Britain in January 1909 and its objective was to "prevent disputes regarding the use of boundary waters and to settle all questions which are not pending between the United States and the Dominion of Canada involving the rights, obligations or interests of either in relation to the other or the inhabitants of the other, along the common frontier, and to make provision for the adjustment and settlement of such questions as may hereafter arise."
The commission consists of six members, three appointed by the President of the United States and three by His Majesty on recommendation of the government of Canada. It was organized in 1911 and established offices in Washington and in Ottawa, Canada. It has jurisdiction over all cases involving the use or obstruction or diversion of boundary waters between the United States and Canada, of waters flowing from boundary waters, and of waters at a lower level than in rivers flowing across the boundary.

Commission Inactive
Rep. Lawrence H. Smith active in organizing the committee of Representatives, found that the International Joint Commission, although long in existence, has been more or less dormant for some years.
A. O. Stanley of Washington is still chairman of the United States Section of the commission. General A. G. L. McNaughton is chairman of the Canadian Section of the Commission taking the place of J. Allison Glen of Ottawa, Canada. The International Joint Commission is now in session in Washington, D. C.
At the insistence of Rep. Smith a committee of representatives was named. It consisted of Gerald E. Ford, of Michigan; Kenneth B. Keating, Rochester, N. Y.; William E. Miller, New York; Harold G. Ostertag, New York; Lawrence H. Smith, Wisconsin; Frances P. Bolton, Ohio; Daniel A. Reed, New York; William R. Williams, New York; George Meader, Michigan; John Bennett, Michigan; Charles E. Potter, Michigan; Clarence R. Kilburn, New York; Ruth Thompson, Michigan.

Telegrams Ask Action
It is this committee which is conferring with the International Joint Commission today. The committee sent the following telegram to the commission:
"The critical situation in the Great Lakes basin resulting from the abnormally high lake level requires immediate attention. Because of the extensive damage that has already taken place and still greater destruction which is bound to occur this year with the increasingly high lake levels, the International Joint Commission has the responsibility to consider this serious matter and possible remedial action on its agenda during its meeting now being held in the city of Washington, D. C. We, therefore, specifically request that the International Joint Commission during its present session undertake the consideration of the problem and forthwith recommend any and all remedial action for the alleviation of the dangers to the affected areas. Kindly advise us, if possible by return wire, when we and others can meet with your commission to discuss this urgent problem."

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said he will "insist that McGranery give a full explanation of his part in actions in the notorious Amerasia case," adding that there were numerous "espionage angles" which never have been followed up.
McGranery scoffed at the accusations, saying he ordered all the evidence presented to a grand jury. In the end, two of six persons arrested by the FBI were fined while charges against the others were dropped.

Williams Approves Hare Of Detroit As State Fair Manager
DETROIT — (AP) — James M. Hare had the endorsement of Gov. G. Mennen Williams today as the newly appointed manager of the Michigan State Fair.
Hare, a truant officer for the Detroit Board of Education, was chosen for the $8,500-a-year job yesterday by the State Fair Board. He got 10 of the 17 votes.
In a statement last night, Gov. Williams said, "I believe he will do a good job of running the 1952 fair and I am glad he is willing to undertake the task."

The governor said he had checked Hare's background "and I am satisfied that he is entirely clear of any suspicion in connection with the grand jury investigation."
Hare, who has been personnel manager of the fair since 1949 succeeds James D. Friel, who resigned last month when a grand jury started removal proceedings against him. He was accused of accepting a gratuity and favoring certain contractors.

Ore Carrier Sykes Loads At Marquette
MARQUETTE, Mich. — (AP) — The giant Inland Steel ore carrier Wilfred Sykes was being loaded with 17,500 tons of iron ore at the Lake Superior & Ishpeming railroad dock in the upper harbor this afternoon after opening navigation in this port shortly after 11 this morning.
On hand to greet the Sykes and its crew were Mayor B. L. York and Chamber of Commerce secretary Ben Knauss.
The opening was three days earlier than last year, when the Cleveland-Cliffs freighter Joliet arrived here on April 8.

Personal
Carl Mattson of Soo Hill and his granddaughter, Donna Carlson of 1406 N. 18th St., left this morning for a visit with relatives in Milwaukee.
Professor Robert Gessner of New York City is visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. Herman Gessner.

Chinese Can't Sweep Tombs Of Ancestors Across Red Frontier
HONG KONG — (AP) — It's an old Chinese custom to sweep out the tombs of their ancestors today in celebration of the annual Ching Ming spring festival.
But Hong Kong Chinese will not be allowed to cross the borders into Red China to sweep tombs. The Reds said they don't want any spies sneaking in from the British Crown colony.
The Communists were more lenient in the case of nearby Portuguese Macao. Chinese living in that port city may cross the border.
The tomb-sweeping custom began in the days of Confucius and is an evidence of ownership. Traditionally, an unsworn grave is considered evidence the family has died out. After a lapse of time the funeral mound disappears under the plough or the burial plot is resold.

SURPRISED — Mrs. Eva Holmgren received the surprise of her life when the New York Fashion Academy named her as one of the nation's best-dressed women. "I make some of my own clothes and make over others," she said. Above, she models a three-piece, gray silk, cocktail costume, with brief bolero to wear over the bodice.

Son Of General Lost In Action

By Stan Carter and Fred Waters
SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — Lt. James A. Van Fleet Jr., a B-26 pilot and son of the U. S. Eighth Army commander, today was listed by the U. S. Fifth Air Force as missing in action with his two-man bomber crew.
The Air Force said their plane failed to return yesterday morning from a night bombing mission near Suncheon in North Korea. It was the 26-year-old Van Fleet's third night mission.
Crewmen listed as missing with Van Fleet are Lt. John A. McAllister, Portland, Ore., navigator-bombardier, and airman first class Ralph L. Phelps, Bemidji, Minn., engineer-gunner.
The Air Force said Van Fleet and his crew went out on their mission Thursday night but were diverted from their primary target by fog and low clouds.
The Air Force said there was no certainty whether the plane ran out of fuel, developed engine trouble or encountered Communist ground fire.

"We are going to have a majority, I feel confident," Vandenberg said.

Watch For Blitz
Besides Summerfield, Sen. Homer Ferguson and former Gov. Harry Kelly were among those reported placed on the leadership's at-large slate. Summerfield and others have been seeking to keep the Michigan delegation publicly uncommitted to any candidate in order to be in a strong trading position at the July Chicago nominating convention.

There remained the possibility that some enthusiastic Eisenhower supporters would try to kick over the traces to obtain a convention endorsement for the general. However, Taft's leaders said they are confident they can prevent any such blitz.

Whisk Sign To Go From Denver Skyline
DENVER — (AP) — Denver's skyline isn't going to be the same. The Brown and Forman distilleries of Kentucky promised last night to remove a 40-foot replica of one of their products (Old Forester) from its perch atop a Denver building.
The bottle caused considerable controversy during its four-month tour of duty. Some citizens protested it blotted out the Rocky Mountains to the west from certain sections of the city.
One gram of pure silver can be drawn into a wire more than a mile long.

I will not plunge our citizens into hopeless, suicidal debt.
I will fight the demands for higher taxes.
I say, avoid appalling losses caused by foolish investments and unnecessary purchases.
